Table of Contents

Introduction from the editors

Background

1. The online feminine mystique. Developing a research agenda for women’s use of social media
2. Gender and other factors that influence tourism preferences
3. Gender differences in motivations to use social networking sites
4. It’s my site, and I’ll do what I want: Performing female identity through digital identity creation in online spaces
5. Blogging their way out of disadvantage: Women, identity and agency in the blogosphere

Gender in context

6. Social media: It can play a positive role in education
7. Techno Teacher Moms: Web 2.0 Connecting Mothers in the Home Education Community
8. Increasing value of a tangible product through intangible attributes – value co-creation and brand building within online communities: Virtual communities and value
9. How Movember’s Online Community Influences Men’s Health Debate
10. Looking at the other side: Families, public health and anti-vaccination
11. The role of women from a social media jihad perspective: Wife or warrior?
12. Exploring Female Hispanic Consumers’ Adoption of Mobile Social Media in the US
14. Cross-cultural analysis to Koryo-saram in four societies using Social Data Mining