Acknowledgment

Editing this book has been an exciting project, which began many years before it was conceived. My foray into Tourism Informatics was launched by the research funding granted over a number of years by the Sustainable Tourism – Collaborative Research Centre (ST-CRC), Australia. I am thankful to ST-CRC for giving me the funding to create new research opportunities. I am particularly indebted to Prof. Leo Jago, the research director of ST-CRC during this period for his support and guidance. I am also thankful to my research partners, namely: Prof. Michael McGarth, Dr. Leisa Armstrong, Dr. Mladen Georgievski, Ms. Roopa Jakkilinki, Mr. Jayden Kimber, Mr. Imran Ahmad, and Mr. Mohan Ponnada.

Book publishing is a challenging business, however, very important for disseminating new knowledge. IGI Global has taken on this task with great enthusiasm. I am thankful to all IGI Global staff for their support and guidance throughout this project. Thank you Jan Travers, Lindsay Johnston, Heather Probst, Tyler Heath, Neely Zanussi, Elizabeth Ardner, and those working in the background. I am also thankful to all the members of the Editorial Advisory Board for supporting the book concept, and helping me in disseminating its call for chapters. Thank you Prof. Borko Furht, Prof. Michael McGrath, Prof. Leo Jago, Prof. Margaret Deery, Prof. John Zeleznikow, Dr. Suzanne Bergin, Dr. Klemens Waldhöhr, Dr. Jamie Murphy, Prof. Dean Carson, and Mr. Paul Baron.

All authors of this book have been great partners in producing well written chapters while meeting tight deadlines. Most of the authors have also supported the editorial process; a big round of applause for you all. Dr. Klemens Waldhöhr, Prof. Antony Sofo, and Dr. Subhash Sharma have participated in the editorial process as additional reviewers; thank you all for sparing your valuable time and meeting tight deadlines.

Most families are affected by book writing or editing projects, mine was an exception. Nonetheless, I am thankful to my lovely wife Prof. Hema Sharda, my beautiful daughter Pallavi Sharda, and my fantastic son Ankur Sharda, for being away from home most of the time on their respective business ventures, giving me all the time in the world to work on this project. However, and more importantly, flying back whenever I missed them too much.

Finally, I would like to thank my parents, Shri Gian Chand Sharda and Dr. Krishna Sharda for their inspiration and love, which has always guided me towards the pursuit of knowledge.

Nalin Sharda
Victoria University, Australia