Acknowledgment

A number of people have contributed to the successful completion of this book project. We would like to express our sincere gratitude to all persons who inspired us in several discussions and provided us with their continuous and helpful assistance throughout the last 12 months, in which we were working on this book. Without their encouragement and support, this book would not have materialized.

Foremost, we would like to express our deepest appreciation to all chapter authors for their interest in this book and the time and effort they invested to go through several revision cycles in order to share their knowledge with us. We are very thankful for this fruitful collaboration and the confidence they had in us.

Our sincere thanks goes to the directors of our employer, empirica, Simon Robinson and Werner B. Korte, for their financial and organizational support and encouragement as well as for giving us the freedom to work on this project.

Furthermore, we thank our colleagues and partners in the CommonWell, SmartCare, and INDEPENDENT projects, whose engagement and enthusiasm for this topic inspired our book idea and who encouraged us to finally set out on this exciting endeavor.

Last but not least, we would like to thank our research assistants, Mira Germes, Bettina Wittek, Rieke Ledendecker, and Wencke Höhner, for their organizational and editorial support as well as Austin M. DeMarco, Jan Travers, and Kayla Wolfe from IGI Global for their always fast, professional, and sensible assistance throughout the whole publication process.
