Web-Based Education: Learning from Experience

Table of Contents

Foreword ........................................................................................................................ ix
   Starr Roxanne Hiltz, New Jersey Institute of Technology, USA

Preface ........................................................................................................................... x
   Anil K. Aggarwal, University of Baltimore, USA

Part I. WBE: An Overview, Current and Future

Chapter I. A Guide to eCourse Management: The Stakeholders’ Perspectives .......... 1
   Anil K. Aggarwal, University of Baltimore, USA

Chapter II. A Comprehensive Web-Based Learning Framework: Toward Theoretical Diversity .................................................................................................................. 24
   Esperanza Huerta, Claremont Graduate University, USA, and Instituto Tecnológico Autónomo de México, Mexico
   Terry Ryan, Claremont Graduate University, USA
   Magid Igbaria, Claremont Graduate University, USA

Chapter III. New Issues Arising from E-Education ..................................................... 36
   Johanna Klassen, City University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong
   Doug Vogel, City University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong

Chapter IV. Web-Based Learning: Experience-Based Research ............................... 49
   Val Clulow, Swinburne University of Technology, Australia
   Jan Brace-Govan, Monash University, Australia

Chapter V. Web-Based Education in the 21st Century: A Transnational Perspective .................................................................................................................. 71
   Mahesh S. Raisinghani, University of Dallas, USA

Part II. WBE: Enhancing Technologies

Chapter VI. Preproduction Stages in Multimedia Development: Conceptualization and Script Writing ................................................................. 90
   Johanna Klassen, City University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong
Chapter VII. Peer-to-Peer Networks as Extensions of Web-Based Education – Handhelds in Support of Coordination and Autonomy ....................................................... 105
Malu Roldan, San Jose State University, USA

Chapter VIII. Beyond the Web: Leveraging Multiple Internet Technologies .......... 120
Mihir A. Parikh, Polytechnic University, USA

Chapter IX. Web Design Studio: A Preliminary Experiment in Facilitating Faculty Use of the Web ................................................................. 131
Vicki L. Sauter, University of Missouri, USA

Part III. WBE: Design Issues

Chapter X. Participation: The Online Challenge ..................................................... 156
Regina Bento, University of Baltimore, USA
Cindy Schuster, University of Baltimore, USA

Chapter XI. Web-Based Student Assessment .................................................. 165
Apiwan D. Born, University of Illinois at Springfield, USA

Chapter XII. A Web-Based Platform to Mentor Distance Learners ...................... 189
Karen Neville, University College Cork, Ireland
Frederic Adam, University College Cork, Ireland
Colin McCormack, University College Cork, Ireland

Chapter XIII. Communication Needs of Online Students .............................. 203
Werner Beuschel, University of Applied Sciences Brandenburg, Germany
Birgit Gaiser, University of Applied Sciences Brandenburg, Germany
Susanne Draheim, University of Applied Sciences Brandenburg, Germany

Chapter XIV. eLearning Support Systems ...................................................... 223
Jason D. Baker, Regent University, USA
Robert J. Schihl, Regent University, USA
Anil K. Aggarwal, University of Baltimore, USA

Part IV. WBE: Diffusion Across Disciplines and Communities

Chapter XV. Program Execution and Visualization on the Web ....................... 236
C. Pareja-Flores, Universidad Complutense de Madrid, Spain
J. Á. Velázquez-Iturbide, Universidad Rey Juan Carlos, Spain

Chapter XVI. Forum Performance in WBE: Causes and Effects ....................... 260
Erik Benrud, University of Baltimore, USA
Chapter XVII. Using Information Technology to Meet Electronic Commerce and MIS Education Demands ........................................................... 280

Paul J. Speaker, West Virginia University, USA
Virginia Franke Kleist, West Virginia University, USA

Chapter XVIII. Using Web-Based Technology to Support and Enhance the Learning Experience in a Community-Learning Projects Course ............... 292

Dennis Drinka, University of Alaska Anchorage, USA
Minnie Yi-Miin Yen, University of Alaska Anchorage, USA

Chapter XIX. Virtual Science Centers: Web-Based Environments for Promotion of Nonformal Science Education ..................................................... 308

Leo Tan Wee Hin, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore
R. Subramaniam, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore

Part V. WBE: Diffusion Across Boundaries (Case Studies)

Chapter XX. The Use of a Hybrid Model in Web-Based Education: “The Global Campus Project” ........................................................................................................... 331

Sherif Kamel, The American University in Cairo, Egypt
Khaled Wahba, Cairo University, Egypt

Chapter XXI. A Comparative Study of Diffusion of Web-Based Education (WBE) in Singapore and Australia ................................................................................... 347

Y. Y. Jessie Wong, Independent Educational Researcher, Canada
R. Gerber, University of New England, Australia
K. A. Toh, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore

Chapter XXII. Relevant Issues for the Design of a Successful Web-Based Instructional System: MODASPECTRA ...................................................................... 371

Salvatore Valenti, Università di Ancona, Italy
Maurizio Panti, Università di Ancona, Italy
Tommaso Leo, Università di Ancona, Italy

Chapter XXIII. WeBCEIS – A Scenario for Integrating Web-Based Education into Classical Education ................................................................................... 398

Müge Klein, University of Karlsruhe, Germany
Daniel Sommer, University of Karlsruhe, Germany
Wolffried Stucky, University of Karlsruhe, Germany

Chapter XXIV. Integrating Online Educational Activities in Traditional Courses: University-wide Lessons after Three Years ................................................... 415

Jane Klobas, University of Western Australia, Australia and Bocconi University, Italy
Stefano Renzi, Bocconi University, Italy
Chapter XXV. An Evaluation of Web-Based Education at a Finnish University....... 440

Johanna Lammintakanen, University of Kuopio, Finland
Sari Rissanen, University of Kuopio, Finland

About the Authors ..................................................................................................... 454

Index ........................................................................................................................ 464