Acknowledgment

Any work without acknowledging the causes and the people that make it a success is incomplete. First, I pay homage to the all-pervading infinite consciousness that makes us aware and intelligent beings, and thus, I bow to that energy for being the harbinger of the idea and fruition of this book. Second, I would like to thank my mother, Mrs. Saroj Wadhwa, and father, Dr. Bhim Sain Wadhwa, for the support and freedom they have always given me. I would like to thank my wife, Dr. Komalpreet Kaur, for being supportive at every step of my life and, more specifically, during the editing of this book. Last but not the least, I would like to thank my friend, Dr. Alan Harper, who consistently supported me in this endeavor.

Manish Wadhwa
Salem State University, USA

I am grateful for many people who helped with the process of authoring Technology, Innovation, and Enterprise Transformation. First, I would like to thank my wife, Nicole, and my son, Miles, for their endless support during this journey. Lastly, I would like to thank my colleague, Dr. Manish Wadhwa, who has been joy to work with. I hope this book helps practitioners, academics, and doctoral students in their pursuit of knowledge as to how innovation and technology has transformed enterprises.

Alan Harper
South University, USA

In the end, we would like to thank all the authors who made this book a success and the reviewers who provided their critical feedback and thus helped improve the quality of the content. We would like to thank Dr. Nicole Kysier for her proofreading and attention to detail. In addition, we thank the Editorial Advisory Board members for their guidance.