Table of Contents

Preface........................................................................................................................................... xviii

Introduction...................................................................................................................................... xxiv

Section 1
Teaching EFL/ESL Writing: Cultural Influences

Chapter 1
Explicit Instruction in Western Cultures in the English-Language Writing Classrooms of the Arab Gulf: Pedagogical Perspectives ................................................................................................................................................................................................. 1

C.J. Denman, Sultan Qaboos University, Oman

Chapter 2
Contextual Influences on Teachers’ Writing Instruction: Insights from the Diaries of Three ESL/EFL Professionals ........................................................................................................................................................................ 14

Patrick Ng Chin Leong, University of Niigata Prefecture, Japan

Tsui-Chun (Judy) Hu, Zi You Language and Science, Taiwan

Esther Boucher-Yip, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, USA

Chapter 3
Second Language Acquisition and the Impact of First Language Writing Orientation................................................................................................................................. 28

Samia Naqvi, Middle East College, Oman

Jesudasan F. Thomas, Middle East College, Oman

Kakul Agha, Middle East College, Oman

Rahma Al-Mahrooqi, Sultan Qaboos University, Oman

Chapter 4
Contradictory Genres: The Five-Paragraph Essay vs. the Lab Report .................................................................................................................................................................................. 44

Neil Mcbeath, Sultan Qaboos University, Oman
Section 2
ESL/EFL Writing Approaches

Chapter 5
A Reflective Overview of a Process Approach to Writing in Generation 1.5 ESL Classrooms: Instructors’ and Students’ Perspectives
Semire Dikli, Georgia Gwinnett College, USA
Justin Jernigan, Georgia Gwinnett College, USA
Susan Bleyle, Georgia Gwinnett College, USA

Chapter 6
Process vs. Product: Arabic and English Writing Classrooms in Oman
Rahma Al-Mahrooqi, Sultan Qaboos University, Oman
C. J. Denman, Sultan Qaboos University, Oman

Chapter 7
How Blending Process and Product Approaches to Teaching Writing Helps EFL Learners: A Case Study
Khadernawaz Khan, Dhofar University, Oman
Umamaheswara Rao Bontha, Dhofar University, Oman

Chapter 8
Teaching and Learning to Write: Using a Task-Based Approach in an EFL Class
Abraham Panavelil Abraham, University of Nizwa, Oman

Section 3
Pathways towards Success in ESL/EFL Writing

Chapter 9
Teaching Critical Thinking and Academic Writing Skills to Japanese University EFL Learners: A Pedagogical Perspective
Neil Heffernan, Ehime University, Japan

Chapter 10
Pathways towards Success for Novice Academic Writers in a CLIL Setting: A Study in an Asian EFL Context
John Adamson, University of Niigata Prefecture, Japan
David Coulson, University of Niigata Prefecture, Japan
Chapter 11
Investigating Scaffolding Writing Instruction: A Tool for Struggling EFL Writers........................................ 169
   Aminah A. Sutphen, Salalah College of Technology, Oman

Chapter 12
To Whom Do We Write? Audience in EFL Composition Classes ................................................................. 197
   Shaker Ali Al-Mohammadi, Buraimi University College, Oman
   Emira Derbel, Buraimi University College, Oman

Chapter 13
Don’t Get It Right, Just Get It Written: Making Feedback Work ...................................................................... 209
   Omar Al Noursi, Institute of Applied Technology, UAE

Chapter 14
A Case for Peer Review Inclusion in Writing Assessment ................................................................................. 230
   Melissa R. Bodola, Sultan Qaboos University, Oman
   Stephanie D. Siam, Sultan Qaboos University, Oman

Chapter 15
The Role of Online Tools in Promoting EFL Writing: A Pedagogical Perspective ........................................ 248
   Shaimaa Abd El Fattah Torky, National Center for Educational Research and Development, Egypt

Section 4
   Error Correction, Assessment, and Evaluation

Chapter 16
Correct Writing and Spelling in the ESL Classroom ............................................................................................ 269
   Seetha Jayaraman, Dhofar University, Oman

Chapter 17
Omani Undergraduate Students’ Writing Errors: Reflections ............................................................................. 288
   Muhammed Ali Chalikandy, Al Buraimi University College, Oman

Chapter 18
Awareness of Plagiarism: Omani English Foundation Students’ and Teachers’ Perspectives .................. 307
   Reham Sulaiman Alhinai, Ministry of Education, Oman
   Rahma Ibrahim Al-Mahroogi, Sultan Qaboos University, Oman

Chapter 19
Writing Assessment: A Pedagogical Perspective on Variations and Dichotomies ...................................... 327
   Farah Bahrouni, Sultan Qaboos University, Oman
Chapter 20
An Evaluation of Sohar University GFP Students’ Performance in Writing: A Pedagogical Perspective

Soufiane Trabelsi, Sohar University, Oman

Compilation of References

About the Contributors

Index