Table of Contents

Foreword ........................................................................................................................................... xvii

Preface ................................................................................................................................................ xix

Section 1
Learning

Chapter 1
Changes in Students’ Cognitive and Metacognitive Strategy Use over Five Years of Secondary Schooling ........................................................................................................................................ 1

  Helen Askell-Williams, Flinders University, Australia
  Michael J. Lawson, Flinders University, Australia

Chapter 2
Valuing Learning in, through, and about Sport-Physical Education and the Development of Sport Literacy ........................................................................................................................................ 20

  Shane Pill, Flinders University, Australia

Chapter 3
Visual Mental Imagery: A Key Representational Format ........................................................................ 36

  Lihui Wang, Ocean University of China, China
  Michael J. Lawson, Flinders University, Australia

Chapter 4
Modelling Teachers’ Promotion of Powerful Positive Affect in the Primary Mathematics Classroom ........................................................................................................................................ 51

  Shaileigh Page, Flinders University, Australia
  Julie Clark, Flinders University, Australia

Chapter 5
Students’ Strategies for Planning and Reflecting on the Process of Carrying out the International Baccalaureate Personal Project ........................................................................................................................................ 79

  Penny Van Deur, Flinders University, Australia
Section 2
Diversity

Chapter 6
The Schooling Experiences of African Youth from Refugee Backgrounds in South Australia:
Key Findings and Implications for Educational Practice.......................................................... 100
   Svetlana M. King, Flinders University, Australia
   Laurence Owens, Flinders University, Australia

Chapter 7
Analysis of National Test Scores in Very Remote Australian Schools: Understanding the Results through a Different Lens .................................................................................................................... 125
   John Guenther, Flinders University, Australia

Chapter 8
Understanding Adolescent Offending: The Intentions to Transgress (ITT) Model......................... 144
   Grace Skrzypiec, Flinders University, Australia
   Laurence Owens, Flinders University, Australia

Chapter 9
The Australian Curriculum: Assessment Practices for Diverse Learners...................................... 161
   Karyn Carson, Flinders University, Australia
   Peter Walker, Flinders University, Australia

Section 3
Communities of Practice

Chapter 10
Re-Framing the Formation of Rural Educational Leaders.......................................................... 182
   R. John Halsey, Flinders University, Australia

Chapter 11
Shaping a Strengths-Based Approach to Relational Leadership .................................................. 201
   Michael Bell, Flinders University, Australia
   Carolyn Palmer, Flinders University, Australia

Chapter 12
The Impact of School-Community Involvement on Students, Teachers, and the Community .......... 221
   Carolyn Gregoric, Flinders University, Australia
   Laurence Owens, Flinders University, Australia
Section 4
Student Mental Health and Wellbeing

Chapter 13
Social-Emotional Learning and Students’ Transition from Kindergarten to Primary School in Italy
Valeria Cavioni, University of Pavia, Italy
Maria Assunta Zanetti, University of Pavia, Italy

Chapter 14
How Can We Help? Indirect Aggression among Girls and What to Do about It
Laurence Owens, Flinders University, Australia

Chapter 15
Translating Research Knowledge into Effective School Practice in the Field of Social and Emotional Learning
Ann Lendrum, University of Manchester, UK
Neil Humphrey, University of Manchester, UK

Chapter 16
Exploring Three Measures of Student Wellbeing
Grace Skrzypiec, Flinders University, Australia
Helen Askell-Williams, Flinders University, Australia
Phillip Slee, Flinders University, Australia

Section 5
Reflections

Chapter 17
Transforming the Future of Learning: People, Positivity, and Pluralism (and Even the Planet)
Rosalyn H. Shute, Flinders University, Australia & Federation University, Australia

Compilation of References

About the Contributors

Index