Acknowledgment

We would like to give our special thanks to Nicole Scanlan, a graduate student in the Public Administration program at the California State University, Dominguez Hills. Nicole provided critical support to this book project by drafting part of the introduction and conclusion sections and editing all the chapters and supporting documents. Her excellent writing and analytical skills, great attention to detail, and unwavering enthusiasm contributed significantly to the quality and completion of the book.

We would also like to thank the chapter authors, editorial board members, and reviewers for their insights and guidance. This publication is a collective effort to explore the use of social media in nonprofit organizations.
