The publication of this edited volume has become possible with the sincere and timely efforts and support of a number of intellectuals and the Publisher. First of all, we are thankful to IGI – Global for providing us this wonderful opportunity to come-up with this collection and invite the scholars to contribute to this volume. We are indebted to all the authors and contributors for reposing their confidence in us, sending their original contributions and working as per the tight deadlines. We are thankful to the reviewers from academia and practitioners, who worked so hard to make this work a novel piece.
