Table of Contents

Preface .................................................................................................................................................. xv

Section 1
General Views of E-Tourism

Chapter 1
Publication Analysis of (E-)Tourism ...................................................................................................... 1
Tomas Cahlik, Charles University Prague, Czech Republic & University of Economics Prague, Czech Republic
Elena Kuchina, University of Economics Prague, Czech Republic

Chapter 2
Using MIS for Strategic Planning and Management Control in Tourism Industries ......................... 20
George Kofi Amoako, Central University College Accra, Ghana
Geoffrey Kwasi Adjaison, Bureau for Research and Development (BfRD), Ghana & Central University College Accra, Ghana
Desmond Kwadjo Kumi, Dalmort Consulting Ltd., Ghana
Fredrick Kwame Asamoah, Central University College Accra, Ghana

Chapter 3
Quality Enhancement in Designing E-Tourism Service Systems ..................................................... 43
Ye Wang, Zhejiang Gongshang University, China
Jie Sun, Ningbo Institute of Technology, China

Chapter 4
Promoting Place Appeal: New Tools and Strategies ......................................................................... 64
Bruce Henry Lambert, Localversity, Sweden
Section 2
Operations Research and Management Science Methods for E-Tourism Research

Chapter 5
Interactive Approaches for Sightseeing Route Planning under Uncertain Traffic and Ambiguous Tourist’s Satisfaction................................................................. 75
   Takashi Hasuike, Osaka University, Japan
   Hideki Katagiri, Hiroshima University, Japan
   Hiroe Tsubaki, The Institute of Statistical Mathematics, Japan
   Hiroshi Tsuda, Doshisha University, Japan

Chapter 6
Who Won the Winter 2010 Olympics? A Quest into Priorities and Rankings......................... 97
   Thomas L. Saaty, University of Pittsburgh, USA

Section 3
Medical and Health E-Tourism

Chapter 7
Global Medical Tourism: A Review ....................................................................................... 114
   Sukanya Banerjee, JIS College of Engineering, India
   Siddhartha Sankar Nath, JIS College of Engineering, India
   Nilanjan Dey, JIS College of Engineering, India
   Hajime Eto, University of Tsukuba, Japan

Chapter 8
Empirical Analysis on the Medical Tourism Policy in Taiwan .............................................. 132
   I-Chun Liu, Yuan Ze University, Taiwan
   Chii-Ching Chen, Kainan University, Taiwan

Chapter 9
Medical Tourism Service Quality: An Indian Perspective .................................................... 149
   Bikash Ranjan Debata, University of Macau, China
   S. S. Mahapatra, National Institute of Technology Rourkela, India
   Bhaswati Patnaik, National Institute of Technology Rourkela, India

Chapter 10
A Comparative Study of Japanese and Taiwanese Perceptions of Hot Springs .................... 181
   I-Chun Liu, Yuan Ze University, Taiwan
   Chii-Ching Chen, Kainan University, Taiwan

Chapter 11
From Amusement and Entertainment Tourism to Balneotherapy and Health Promotion Tourism: With the Aid of Medical Electronics and Communication Networks in Hot Spring Sites of Japan .................................................. 200
   Hajime Eto, The University of Tsukuba, Japan
Section 4
Cultural E-Tourism

Chapter 12
Smart Destination as Key Element: Looking for Improving the Experience of Consumer
Elisa Alén González, University of Vigo, Spain
Trinidad Domínguez Vila, University of Vigo, Spain
Pablo de Carlos Villamarín, University of Vigo, Spain

Chapter 13
From the Museums of Objects to the Virtual Museums: An Opportunity for Local Tourism
Development
Sonia Ferrari, University of Calabria, Italy
Monica Gilli, University of Milano-Bicocca, Italy

Section 5
Visual Information-Induced Tourism

Chapter 14
Film Induced Tourism: Hunting of Potential Tourist Spots by Frame Mosaicing
Nilanjan Dey, Bengal College of Engg & Tech., India
Suvojit Acharjee, Bengal College of Engg & Tech., India
Sayan Chakraborty, NIT Agartala, India

Chapter 15
Recreating the Place: Video-Sharing Websites and the Promotion of Domestic Tourism in the Concurrent Trend of Popular Media-Induced Tourism and Local Mascots in Japan
Tzung-De Lin, National Tsing Hua University, Taiwan

Section 6
Remaining Problems: Ethics in Tourism

Chapter 16
Business Opportunity and Social Responsibility: Growing Importance of Accessible E-Tourism for Senior Tourists and Persons with Disabilities
Aleksandar M. Ivanović, Alexander College of Arts, Business, Finance, Tourism, and Management, Serbia

Chapter 17
Future Research Directions in E-Tourism Studies: Blind Spots and Complaint Analyses Using Data Science Method
Hajime Eto, The University of Tsukuba, Japan

Compilation of References

About the Contributors

Index