Table of Contents

Preface .................................................................................................................................................. xv

Introduction ........................................................................................................................................ xxi

Section 1

Computational Journalism: Entering the New World

Chapter 1
When Journalism Met the Internet: Old Media and New Media Greet the Online Public ............... 1
  Mike Dillon, Duquesne University, USA

Chapter 2
Computational Journalism: Shaping the Future of News in a Big Data World .............................. 17
  Lady Dhyana Ziegler, Florida A&M University, USA

Chapter 3
Research Methods, Data, and Analytics: Examining Service Design and User Experience in TV-and Newspaper-Oriented Digital News Interfaces ........................................................................... 32
  William J. Gibbs, Duquesne University, USA
  Ronan S. Bernas, Eastern Illinois University, USA

Chapter 4
A Tale of Two Newsrooms: How Market Orientation Influences Web Analytics Use .................. 58
  Patrick Ferrucci, University of Colorado-Boulder, USA
  Edson C. Tandoc Jr., Nanyang Technological University, Singapore

Chapter 5
Data-Driven Information Consumption: Heralding a New “Golden Age” of Journalism and Content Creation? ................................................................................................................................. 77
  Joseph McKendrick, Independent Consultant, USA
Section 2
Harnessing the Power of Data

Chapter 6
Web 2.0 and News 2.0: Utilizing Real-Time Analytics for Modern News Organizations.........................93
Kyle Gibson, BostInno, USA
Greg Gomer, BostInno, USA

Chapter 7
Shaping Content Strategies with User Analytics and Identities: How User Analytics is Shaping
Editorial Strategy, Driving Marketing, and Generating New Revenue.............................................111
Tricia Syed, Penton, USA

Chapter 8
Big Data, Text Mining, and News Content: Where is the Big Data? ................................................133
Debora Cheney, University at Albany, USA

Chapter 9
Using Market Research as the Basis for Successful Content Product Decisions.............................152
Judith Durgin Pilla, Independent Research Analyst, USA
Louis Pilla, Publishing Executive, USA

Chapter 10
Research Methodologies, Data Collection, and Analysis at MailChimp: A Case Study................170
Gregg Bernstein, MailChimp, USA
Laurissa Wolfram-Hvass, MailChimp, USA

Section 3
Measuring the Future

Chapter 11
Spreading the News: Spreadable Media, Social Networking, and the Future of News Production....191
Robert J. Baron, Austin Peay State University, USA

Chapter 12
Visualizing Social Network Influence: Measurement and Case Studies ........................................208
Jeremy Harris Lipschultz, University of Nebraska at Omaha, USA

Chapter 13
The Disruptive Impact of Emerging Technology .................................................................233
Gordon J. Murray, Kent State University, USA