Table of Contents

Preface

Preface ................................................................................................................................................ xvi

Acknowledgment

Acknowledgment .............................................................................................................................. xxiii

Section 1

Cloud Computing and Social Media for C-Government

Chapter 1

Cloud Computing Technologies for Open Connected Government ........................................... 1

Zaigham Mahmood, University of Derby, UK & North West University, South Africa

Chapter 2

Significance of Clouds for Connected Governments: The Government Clouds in India .......... 15

Pethuru Raj, IBM Global Cloud Center of Excellence, India

Chapter 3

Adoption of Social Media as Communication Channels in Government Agencies ................. 39

*Reemiah Alotaibi, Leeds Beckett University, UK
Muthu Ramachandran, Leeds Beckett University, UK
Ah-Lian Kor, Leeds Beckett University, UK
Amin Hosseinin-Far, Leeds Beckett University, UK*

Chapter 4

E-Government Initiatives through Cloud Computing: Empowering Citizens .......................... 74

*Muhammad Anshari, Universiti Brunei Darussalam, E-Government Innovation Centre, Brunei
Mohammad Nabil Almunawar, Universiti Brunei Darussalam, Brunei*

Section 2

Frameworks for Cloud-Based C-Government

Chapter 5

A Cloud-Based Framework for Connected Governance .............................................................. 94

*Saswati Mukherjee, Anna University, India
R. Geethapriya, Anna University, India
Suba Surianarayanan, Anna University, India*
Chapter 6
A Support Framework for the Migration of E-Government Services to the Cloud.......................... 124
Abílio Cardoso, Universidade Portucalense, Portugal
Fernando Moreira, Universidade Portucalense, Portugal
Paulo Simões, University of Coimbra, Portugal

Chapter 7
Hirra Anwar, National University of Sciences and Technology (NUST), Pakistan
Muhammad Awais Shibli, National University of Sciences and Technology (NUST), Pakistan
Umme Habiba, National University of Sciences and Technology (NUST), Pakistan

Chapter 8
E-Vote: A Cloud-Based Electronic Voting System for Large-Scale Election.............................. 188
Ionut-Mihai Posea, University Politehnica of Bucharest, Romania
Marius Ion, University Politehnica of Bucharest, Romania
Florin Pop, University Politehnica of Bucharest, Romania
Decebal Popescu, University Politehnica of Bucharest, Romania
Nirvana Popescu, University Politehnica of Bucharest, Romania

Section 3
Cloud Computing Applications for C-Government

Chapter 9
Cloud Computing Applications in the Public Sector............................................................... 215
Amir Manzoor, Bahria University, Pakistan

Chapter 10
Cloud Computing Applications in Education through E-Governance: An Indian Perspective ........ 247
S. Sivagurunathan, Gandhigram Rural Institute (Deemed University), India
L. S. Swasthimathi, SIES College of Management Studies, India

Chapter 11
Enabling Open and Collaborative Public Service Advertising through Cloud Technologies......... 269
Daniel Pop, Universitatea de Vest din Timișoara, Romania
Alejandro Echeverria, Investigación y Desarrollo Informatico Eikon, Spain
Dana Petcu, Universitatea de Vest din Timișoara, Romania
Gloria Conesa, Investigación y Desarrollo Informatico Eikon, Spain

Section 4
Issues and Benefits of Cloud-Based E-Government

Chapter 12
Security and Privacy Issues in Cloud-Based E-Government.................................................... 292
Heru Susanto, Universiti Brunei Darussalam, Brunei & The Indonesian Institute of Science, Indonesia
Mohammad Nabil Almunawar, Universiti Brunei Darussalam, Brunei
Chapter 13
Mariam Kiran, University of Bradford, UK

Chapter 14
Cost Benefits of Cloud Computing for Connected Government
Chin Kang Chen, Universiti Brunei Darussalam, Brunei
Mohammad Nabil Almunawar, Universiti Brunei Darussalam, Brunei

Compilation of References

About the Contributors

Index