Acknowledgment

We would like to thank all those who contributed to the publication of these chapters, through submissions, reviews of manuscripts, and by providing support and encouragement through this process. Special thanks to all contributing authors who worked tirelessly to revise manuscripts so they could be included in our final selection. Thanks to the IGI Global team who were helpful at various stages of the process and helped us to get through the channels required for publication. These include Caitlyn Martin, Development Editor, Jan Travers, Director of Intellectual Property and Contracts, and Kayla Wolfe, Assistant Acquisitions Editor, who supported us in every way possible. We appreciate the time taken by Allan Luke to write the foreword and members of the Editorial Advisory Board who were diligent in ensuring that the manuscripts accepted for final selection met the criteria outlined. Lastly, we thank the members of our families, and especially, Karice, Nana and Sallar for their patience and support throughout the process of this publication.
