Table of Contents

Foreword ......................................................................................................................... xxii

Acknowledgment ........................................................................................................... xxiv

Introduction ....................................................................................................................... xxv

Section 1
The Reconfiguration of Human Relations in the Connected Society: Thoughts and Ideas

Chapter 1
Living inside the NET: The Primacy of Interactions and Processes ................................ 1
   Brasilina Passarelli, University of São Paulo, Brazil
   Francisco Carlos Paletta, University of São Paulo, Brazil

Chapter 2
Critics about the Convergence Culture ............................................................................ 16
   Andres Kalikoske, Universidade do Vale do Rio dos Sinos, Brazil

Chapter 3
The Extensive Communication to Hybridism and “Animaverbivocvisualidade” (AV3) .......... 26
   Antonio Miranda, Universidade de Brasília, Brazil
   Elmira Luzia Simeão, Universidade de Brasília, Brazil

Chapter 4
Digital Inclusion: From Connectivity to the Development of Information Culture ............. 40
   Aurora Cuevas-Cerveró, Complutense University of Madrid, Spain

Chapter 5
Why the Institutional Access Digital Divide Might Be More Significant than the Home Broadband Divide ........................................................................................................ 56
   Christopher McConnell, University of Texas at Austin, USA
   Joseph Straubhaar, University of Texas at Austin, USA
Section 2
Digital Inclusion Projects in Brazil

Chapter 6
Digital Inclusion, Crowdfunding, and Crowdsourcing in Brazil: A Brief Review
Beatrice Bonami, University of São Paulo, Brazil
Maria Lujan Tabio, University of São Paulo, Brazil

Chapter 7
From Information Society to Community Service: The Birth of E-Citizenship
Benedito Medeiros Neto, University of Brasilia, Brazil

Chapter 8
Digital Inclusion and Computational Thinking: New Challenges and Opportunities for Media Professionals
Walter Teixeira Lima Jr., Methodist University of São Paulo, Brazil
Rafael Vergili, University of São Paulo, Brazil

Chapter 9
Digital Inclusion and Public Policies in Brazil
Drica Guzzi, University of São Paulo, Brazil

Chapter 10
E-Portfolios as Tools for Collaborative Learning on Digital Platforms
Ana Claudia Loureiro, University of São Paulo, Brazil
Cristina Zukowsky-Tavares, Federal University of São Paulo, Brazil

Chapter 11
#ConnectedYouthBrazil Research: Emerging Literacies in a Hyperconnected Society
Brasilina Passarelli, University of São Paulo, Brazil
Fabiana Grieco Cabral de Mello Vetratti, University of São Paulo, Brazil

Chapter 12
“Stop Phubbing Me!”: A Case Study on Mobile Media and Social Relations
Alan César Belo Angeluci, Municipal University of São Caetano do Sul, Brazil

Chapter 13
Brazil 4D: An Experience of Interactive Content Production for Free-to-Air Digital Television
Cosette Castro, University of Brasilia, Brazil
Cristiana Freitas, Catholic University of Brasilia, Brazil

Chapter 14
Digital Literacies in Teaching and Learning of Teachers
Antonio Hélio Junqueira, University of São Paulo, Brazil
Chapter 15
A Netnographic Approach on Digital Emerging Literacies in the Digital Inclusion Program
AcessaSP - Brazil

Rodrigo Eduardo Botelho-Francisco, Federal University of Paraná, Brazil

Chapter 16
Critical Analysis of an Amazon Program of Digital Inclusion: Navegápará in the City of Belém

Waléria de Melo Magalhães, Federal University of Pará, Brazil
Marianne Kogut Eliasquevici, Federal University of Pará, Brazil
Benedito de Jesus Pinheiro Ferreira, Federal University of Pará, Brazil

Section 3
Digital Inclusion Projects in Europe

Chapter 17
Information Policies: Agenda for Digital Inclusion in the European Union

Maria Teresa Fernández-Bajón, Universidad Complutense, Spain

Chapter 18
Institutional Policies for Digital Inclusion in Spain

Maria-Jesús Colmenero-Ruiz, Carlos III University of Madrid, Spain
Belén Pérez-Lorenzo, Carlos III University of Madrid, Spain

Chapter 19
Trends in Information Literacy Programmes to Empower People and Communities: Social Technologies Supporting New Citizen Needs

José-Antonio Gómez-Hernández, University of Murcia, Spain
Tomás Saorín, University of Murcia, Spain

Chapter 20
Technologies for Digital Inclusion: Good Practices Dealing with Diversity

Jorge Morato, Carlos III University, Spain
Alejandro Ruiz-Robles, University of Piura, Peru
Sonia Sanchez-Cuadrado, Jot Internet Media, Spain
Miguel Angel Marzal, Carlos III University, Spain

Chapter 21
Discussion on Digital Inclusion Good Practices at Europe’s Libraries

Maria-Jesús Colmenero-Ruiz, Carlos III University of Madrid, Spain
Section 4
Digital Inclusion Projects in Americas

Chapter 22
The Geography of Digital Literacy: Mapping Communications Technology Training Programs in Austin, Texas
Stuart Davis, Texas A&M International University, USA
Lucia Palmer, University of Texas at Austin, USA
Julian Etienne, University of Texas at Austin, USA

Chapter 23
Informational Literacy as Key Element in Social and Digital Inclusion Policies in Mexico
Javier Tarango, Autonomous University of Chihuahua, Mexico
Celia Mireles-Cárdenas, Autonomous University of San Luis Potosí, Mexico

Chapter 24
Digital Revolution in Latin America beyond Technologies
Maria Cristina Gobbi, Universidade Estadual Paulista “Julio de Mesquita Filho,” Brazil
Francisco Machado Filho, Universidade Estadual Paulista “Julio de Mesquita Filho,” Brazil

Chapter 25
Technological Illusions and Educational Resistances: The Public Discourse about OLPC in Peru and Its Policy Failure
Eduardo Villanueva-Mansilla, Pontificia Universidad Catolica del Peru, Peru

Chapter 26
Digital Inclusion Programs in South America
María Gladys Ceretta, University of the Republic, Uruguay
Javier Canzani, University of the Republic, Uruguay

Chapter 27
Comparative Approaches of the IGI-Global Collection
Joseph Straubhaar, University of Texas at Austin, USA
Gejun Huang, University of Texas in Austin, USA

Compilation of References

About the Contributors

Index