Table of Contents

Foreword by Badrul H. Khan ............................................................................................................. xxxi

Foreword by Ioan Neacsu ............................................................................................................. xxxiii

Preface .............................................................................................................................................. xxxv

Acknowledgment ............................................................................................................................ xlv

Volume I

Section 1

Learning Theory: Conceptual Frameworks

Chapter 1

Education from the Enlightenment to the Globalization ........................................................................ 1
Gheorghe Rudic, Centre of Modern Pedagogy, Canada

Chapter 2

Innovation and Creativity in Applied Learning Theory and Design: A Frontier Research in Pedagogy ......................................................................................................................... 21
Elena Railean, European University of Moldova, Moldova

Chapter 3

Education for Sustainable Development: From Environmental Education to Broader Views .......... 41
Líz Jackson, University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong

Chapter 4

The Theory of Artistic-Aesthetic Education versus Didactics of Arts ................................................. 65
Vlad Pâslaru, Academy of Sciences of Moldova, Moldova

Chapter 5

Digital Pedagogy from the Perspective of Early Childhood Education .................................................. 93
Michael Vitoulis, Alexander Technological Educational Institute of Thessaloniki, Greece
Evangelia Laloumi-Vidali, Alexander Technological Education Institute of Thessaloniki, Greece
Section 2
Constructivist Theory and Networking

Chapter 6
Constructivism in Education: Interpretations and Criticisms from Science Education .................. 116
Keith S. Taber, University of Cambridge, UK

Chapter 7
Instructional Technologies of the XXI Century: Theoretical Approach ........................................ 145
Vladimir Nikolaevich Romanenko, North-Western Branch of Academy of Information Technologies in Education, Russia
Galina Vasil’evna, North-Western Branch of Academy of Information Technologies in Education, Russia

Chapter 8
Utilizing Adaptive and Intelligent Systems for Collaborative Online Learning .......................... 165
Matin Saad Abdullah, International Islamic University Malaysia (IIUM), Malaysia
Al-Sakib Khan Pathan, International Islamic University Malaysia (IIUM), Malaysia

Chapter 9
START Model in Science Teaching ................................................................................................. 187
Eugene de Silva, Virginia Research Institute, USA
Eugenie de Silva, University of Leicester, UK

Chapter 10
Self-Organization Technologies in Teaching .................................................................................. 201
Galyna Nesterenko, National Pedagogical Dragomanov University, Ukraine

Section 3
Cognitive Theories, Models, and Practical Applications

Chapter 11
The Role of Social Cognitive Flexibility in Effective Teaching ................................................... 221
Aneta Mechi, University of Geneva, Switzerland
Margarita Sanchez-Mazas, University of Geneva, Switzerland

Chapter 12
Using Bronfenbrenner’s Ecological Framework to Design Support Systems for Education and Special Education: Learning About Thought Systems .......................................................... 251
Gabriela Walker, University of South Dakota, USA
Elizabeth Pattison, Ashland University, USA

Chapter 13
Possibilities and Challenges in a One-to-One Initiative from a School Leader Perspective ........... 270
Marcia J. P. Håkansson Lindqvist, Umeå University, Sweden
Chapter 14
Intrinsic and Extrinsic Motivation within the Context of Modern Education ........................................ 292
Martin Timothy Hall, Charles Sturt University, Australia
Jason E Marshall, University of the West Indies, Cave Hill Campus, Barbados

Section 4
Open Education, Open Pedagogy and Open Access

Chapter 15
Learning in the Digital Age with Meaning Equivalence Reusable Learning Objects (MERLO) .... 310
Masha Etkind, Ryerson University, Canada
Ron S. Kenett, KPA Group Ltd., Israel & University of Turin, Italy
Uri Shafrir, University of Toronto, Canada

Chapter 16
Concept Science Evidence-Based MERLO Learning Analytics ......................................................... 334
Uri Shafrir, University of Toronto, Canada
Ron S. Kenett, KPA Group Ltd., Israel & University of Turin, Italy

Chapter 17
Knowledge in the Shrinking Commons: Libraries and Open Access in a Market-Driven World ............................................................................................................................................. 358
Luke Bassuener, University of Illinois, USA

Chapter 18
Exploring the Development of Pre-Service Teachers’ ICT-TPACK using a Cognitive Stimulation Tool ............................................................................................................................................. 380
Syh-Jong Jang, Asia University, Taiwan
Meng-Fang Tsai, Kaohsiung Medical University, Taiwan

Chapter 19
Developing Soft Skills by Applying Problem-Based Learning in Software Engineering Education ............................................................................................................................................. 405
Liguo Yu, Indiana University South Bend, USA
Raman Adaikkalavan, Indiana University South Bend, USA

Section 5
Design of New Learning Environments

Chapter 20
Collaborative Design in School: Conflicts, Contradictions, Agreements, and Disagreements to Learn ............................................................................................................................................. 420
Valérie Tartas, Université de Toulouse Jean Jaurès, France
Marcelo Giglio, HEP Bejune, Switzerland & University of Neuchâtel, Switzerland
Volume II

Chapter 21
ePortfolios as a Tool for Integrative Learning: Building Classroom Practices that Work ............... 439
Becky Boesch, Portland State University, USA
Candyce Reynolds, Portland State University, USA
Judith Patton, Portland State University, USA

Chapter 22
Does the Method of Schooling Impact Students’ Perceptions of Scientists? Understanding the Complexities that Contribute to Home School Students’ Perceptions of Scientists ....................... 465
Donna Farland-Smith, The Ohio State University, USA

Chapter 23
Dynamic Electronic Textbooks: A New Learning Experience .............................................................. 478
Amir Manzoor, Bahria University, Pakistan

Chapter 24
Understanding How Images and Attitudes toward Scientists and Science Contribute to Science Identities: Investigating How Images Drawn by Elementary, Middle, and High School Students Reflect Their Attitudes ......................................................................................................................... 498
Donna Farland-Smith, The Ohio State University, USA
Toni Ledger, Middlesex Community College, USA

Section 6
Technology for Learning

Chapter 25
The Growth of Learning Colleges Including a Case Study from 2008 Revisited in 2015 .............. 520
Martha Ann Davis McGaw, McGaw Davis Foundation, USA

Chapter 26
Technology-Enabled Learning Environments .............................................................................................. 545
Amir Manzoor, Bahria University, Pakistan

Chapter 27
Instructors as End-User Developers: Technology Usage Opportunities in the Inverted Classroom ........................................................................................................................................... 560
Joslenne Pena, The Pennsylvania State University, USA
Patrick C. Shih, Indiana University, USA
Mary Beth Rosson, The Pennsylvania State University, USA

Chapter 28
Virtual Activities to Promote Multiculturalism and Sustainability of International Partnerships..... 572
Jiyoon Yoon, University of Texas – Arlington, USA
Insoon Han, University of Minnesota – Duluth, USA
Chapter 29
Using Theory-Based Research in Supporting Creative Learning Environment for Young Children

Amanda J. Muhammad, Bowling Green State University, USA
Gloyssis Mayers, Zayed University, UAE
Deborah G. Wooldridge, Bowling Green State University, USA

Section 7
Innovative Approaches, Systems, and Tools for Learning

Chapter 30
Applied Learning Educators Searching for a Pedagogical Model

Christine Schulz, Deakin University, Australia

Chapter 31

Byron Havard, University of West Florida, USA
Marlene L. East, University of West Florida, USA
Lakshmi Prayaga, University of West Florida, USA
Alex Whiteside, University of West Florida, USA

Chapter 32
Augmented Reality as a New Media for Supporting Mobile-Learning

Mauro Figueiredo, University of Algarve, Portugal
José Gomes, University of Algarve, Portugal & Open University, Portugal
Cristina Maria Cardoso Gomes, University of Algarve, Portugal & Open University, Portugal
Rui Gaspar, University of Algarve, Portugal & Open University, Portugal
João Madeira Lopes, University of Algarve, Portugal

Chapter 33
Paired Multiple Choice Questionnaires: A Novel Assessment Tool

Dimos Triantis, Technological Educational Institution of Athens, Greece
Errikos-Chaim Ventouras, Technological Educational Institution of Athens, Greece

Section 8
Media Literacy and Artistic Education

Chapter 34
Learning Inclusion in Thailand: A Case Study of Karen Education

Chaitut Roungchai, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, USA

Chapter 35
Artistic Education Areas: Methodological Integration

Marina Morari, “Alecu Russo” State University, Moldova
Chapter 36
Combating the “Gimme More” Mindset in Modern Classrooms: Citizenship Education vs. Entitlement

Marian Evelyn Irwin, University of Illinois, USA

Chapter 37
Perceptions of Teacher Candidates’ Experiences in Paired Placements: Perceptions of Paired Placements

Jeanine B. Jechura, Bowling Green State University, USA
Cynthia Diane Bertelsen, Bowling Green State University, USA

Section 9
Semantic E-Learning Theory, Security, and Plagiarism

Chapter 38
Semantics and Pragmatics in Mathematical Events: A Linguistics View

Vinod Kumar Kanvaria, University of Delhi, India

Chapter 39
The Roles of E-Learning, Organizational Learning, and Knowledge Management in the Learning Organizations

Kijpokin Kasemsap, Suan Sunandha Rajabhat University, Thailand

Chapter 40
Pervasive Cyberinfrastructure for Personalized Education

Tyler Morrow, Missouri University of Science and Technology, USA
Sahra Sedigh Sarvestani, Missouri University of Science and Technology, USA
Ali R Hurson, Missouri University of Science and Technology, USA

Chapter 41
Strategies and Technologies for Preventing Plagiarism in Modern Higher Education: War against Today’s Plagiarists or Nurturing Tomorrow’s Talents

Anton V. Dolzhenko, Monash University Malaysia, Malaysia
Tahir Mehmood Khan, Monash University Malaysia, Malaysia
Anna V. Dolzhenko, Monash University Malaysia, Malaysia

Compilation of References

About the Contributors

Index