Table of Contents

Foreword ........................................................................................................................................... xviii

Preface .................................................................................................................................................. xx

Acknowledgment .............................................................................................................................. xxvi

Chapter 1
Critical Media Literacy as Transformative Pedagogy ................................................................. 1
   Steven Funk, University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA), USA
   Douglas Kellner, University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA), USA
   Jeff Share, University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA), USA

Chapter 2
Learning to Teach the Media: Pre-Service Teachers Articulate the Value of Media Literacy
Education ............................................................................................................................................. 31
   Theresa Redmond, Appalachian State University, USA

Chapter 3
Pedagogical Approaches to Media Literacy Education in the United States.............................. 53
   Jackie HeeYoung Kim, Armstrong State University, USA

Chapter 4
Educating English Language Learners for Success in the 21st Century: Facilitating Their Acquisition of Multiliteracies ............................................................................................................. 75
   Jennifer J. Chen, Kean University, USA

Chapter 5
Developing English Language Teachers’ Professional Capacities through Digital and Media
Literacies: A Brazilian Perspective ........................................................................................................ 91
   Lucas Moreira dos Anjos-Santos, Monash University, Australia & CAPES Foundation, Brazil
   Michele Salles El Kadri, State University of Londrina, Brazil
   Raquel Gamero, State University of the North of Parana, Brazil
   Telma Gimenez, State University of Londrina, Brazil
Chapter 6
Terms of the Digital Age: Realities and Cultural Paradigms........................................... 115
   Kimberly N. Rosenfeld, Cerritos College, USA

Chapter 7
   Yonty Friesem, Central Connecticut State University, USA

Chapter 8
Transforming Digital Literacy with Culturally Diverse, Personalized Learning.......................... 161
   Patricia Donohue, San Francisco State University, USA
   Kevin Kelly, San Francisco State University, USA

Chapter 9
Creating Global Classrooms Using Universal Design for Learning...................................... 186
   Victoria Brown, Florida Atlantic University, USA

Chapter 10
The Freedom of Critical Thinking: Examining Efforts to Teach American News Literacy
Principles in Hong Kong, Vietnam, and Malaysia................................................................. 208
   Jennifer Fleming, California State University – Long Beach, USA
   Masato Kajimoto, The University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong

Chapter 11
Media Literacy Organizations................................................................................................. 236
   Iram Mukhtar Mahajan, University of Kashmir, India
   Mudasir Rather, University of Kashmir, India
   Huma Shafiq, University of Kashmir, India
   Uzma Qadri, University of Kashmir, India

Chapter 12
Media Literacy in the Digital Age: Literacy Projects and Organizations..................................... 249
   Amir Manzoor, Bahria University, Pakistan

Chapter 13
Media Ecology and the 21st Century Classroom........................................................................ 275
   Benjamin J. Cline, Western New Mexico University, USA

Chapter 14
Using Media Literacy to Teach and Learn the English Language Arts/Literacy: Common Core
State Standards........................................................................................................................... 291
   Kelly McNeal, William Paterson University, USA

Chapter 15
21st Century Skills and Digital Storytelling in the Classroom.................................................... 306
   Nicoletta Di Blas, Politecnico di Milano, Italy
Chapter 16
Pedagogical Guidelines to Introduce Transmedia Learning into the Classroom: The Brazilian Context

Patricia Gallo, Federal University of Rio Grande do Norte, Brazil
Maria das Graças Pinto Coelho, Federal University of Rio Grande do Norte, Brazil

Chapter 17
Cognitive Approach to Improve Media Literacy: Mind Puzzles

Zekeriya Karadag, Bayburt University, Turkey
Yasemin Devecioglu-Kaymakci, Bayburt University, Turkey

Chapter 18
Media Literacy, Co-Innovation, and Productivity: Examples from European Countries

Juan-Francisco Martínez-Cerdá, Open University of Catalonia (UOC), Spain
Joan Torrent-Sellens, Open University of Catalonia (UOC), Spain
Mônica Pegurer Caprino, Methodist University of Sao Paulo, Brazil

Chapter 19
Bring the Media Literacy of Turkish Pre-Service Teachers to the Table

Zerrin Ayvaz Reis, Istanbul University, Turkey

Chapter 20
How to Use Parody and Humour to Teach Digital Literacy

Luis Pereira, Coventry University, UK

Chapter 21
Mobile Phone Use during Class at a Japanese Women’s College

Yuuki Kato, Sagami Women’s University, Japan
Shogo Kato, Tokyo Woman’s Christian University, Japan

Chapter 22
Methods and Strategies in Using Digital Literacy in Media and the Arts

David J. Weisberg, William Paterson University, USA

Compilation of References

About the Contributors

Index