Acknowledgment

The editors would like to thank the authors for showing interest in our book and contributing chapters to it. We appreciate their time and expertise for writing those chapters.

We would like to acknowledge the contribution of our reviewers. They have spent so many hours in reviewing and giving constructive feedback to authors. Some of our authors have also served as reviewers; we would like to appreciate their effort and time in undertaking this dual responsibility.

Next, we want to extend our thanks to various members of IGI Global. Right from the stage of conceptualization of this book to publishing, all of them have been very prompt and efficient in handling our queries and guiding us through the process.

We would also like to thank our families for supporting us through this period. We were committed to bring forth this book within the timeline, and our families helped us realize that.

Lastly, we would like to thank each other. At times, this project became quite overwhelming due to multiple other engagements and commitments. But we kept on encouraging each other and working on it diligently to complete it.

Shalini Rahul Tiwari
Institute of Management Technology, India

Lubna Nafees
Institute of Management Technology, India