Acknowledgment

I want to express my deep gratitude to my PhD supervisors for reacting with such encouraging and stimulating response to the original idea on linking accounting issues with macro-economic outcomes. Many who had the opportunity of listening or reading the idea have enriched the discussion with illustrations and comments, and I have incorporated some of them in the editing of this volume. In innumerable ways, my Mentor (Dr. Osabuohien) has been a constant source of help and encouragement while working on the realisation of this volume. The publishers have given me unending encouragement and cooperation from the time I contacted them about the manuscript. For this, I am very thankful.
