Table of Contents

 Preface.................................................................................................................................................. xiii

 Acknowledgment ................................................................................................................................ xvi

Section 1
Theoretical Perspectives on Electronic Surveillance

Chapter 1
The Borders of Corruption: Living in the State of Exception .............................................................. 1
Rebecca R. Fiske, Bard College at Simon's Rock, USA

Chapter 2
The Mode of Information – Due Process of Law and Student Loans: Bills of Attainder Enter the Digital Age ................................................................................................................. 16
Timothy C. Bagwell, American Public University System, USA
Shareka L. Jackson, American Public University, USA

Chapter 3
Using Duality Theory to Reframe E-Government Challenges ............................................................................. 35
Kathleen S. Hartzel, Duquesne University, USA
Virginia W. Gerde, Furman University, USA

Chapter 4
Who “Screens” Security? Cultures of Surveillance in Film ............................................................................. 57
Vincent Casaregola, Saint Louis University, USA

Section 2
Ethical Issues, Privacy, and Electronic Surveillance

Chapter 5
Reconciling the Needs for National Security and Citizen Privacy in an Age of Surveillance ............ 78
Kenneth L. Hacker, New Mexico State University, USA
Bridget Acquah-Baidoo, New Mexico State University, USA
Anthony Epperson, New Mexico State University, USA
Chapter 6
The Right to Privacy Is Dying: Technology Is Killing It and We Are Letting It Happen .................. 103
    Sam Edwards, Green Mountain College, USA

Chapter 7
Big Collusion: Corporations, Consumers, and the Digital Surveillance State .......................... 127
    Garry Robson, Jagiellonian University, Poland
    C. M. Olavarria, Université d’Avignon, France

Chapter 8
Privacy Concerns with Digital Forensics ................................................................. 145
    Neil C. Rowe, US Naval Postgraduate School, USA

Chapter 9
Achieving Balance between Corporate Dataveillance and Employee Privacy Concerns ............. 163
    Ordor Ngowari Rosette, Concordia University of Edmonton, Canada
    Fatemeh Kazemeyni, Concordia University of Edmonton, Canada
    Shaun Aghili, Concordia University of Edmonton, Canada
    Sergey Butakov, Concordia University of Edmonton, Canada
    Ron Ruhl, Concordia University of Edmonton, Canada

Chapter 10
Cyber Espionage: How Safe Are We? .............................................................................. 176
    Mohamed Fazil Mohamed Firdhous, University of Moratuwa, Sri Lanka

Chapter 11
The E-Government Surveillance in the United States: Public Opinion on Government Wiretapping Powers ................................................................. 208
    Ramona Sue McNeal, University of Northern Iowa, USA
    Mary Schmeida, Kent State University, USA
    Justin Holmes, University of Northern Iowa, USA

Section 3
Case Studies of E-Surveillance

Chapter 12
Public Administrators, School Safety, and Forms of Surveillance: Ethics and Social Justice in the Surveillance of Students’ Disabilities ......................................................... 232
    Kirsten Loutzenhisser, Troy University, USA

Chapter 13
E-Government, E-Surveillance, and Ethical Issues from Malaysian Perspective .................. 249
    Maslin Masrom, Universiti Teknologi Malaysia, Malaysia
Compilation of References ........................................................................................................... 264
About the Contributors .............................................................................................................. 296
Index............................................................................................................................................ 301