Acknowledgment

The editor would like to acknowledge the help of all the people involved in this project and, more specifically, to the authors and reviewers that took part in the review process. Without their support, this book would not have become a reality.

Our sincere gratitude goes to the chapter's authors who contributed their time and expertise to this book.

I wish to personally thank IGI Global book publication team for their immense patience and help to make this book completed and published.