Table of Contents

Preface ......................................................................................................................................................... xiii

Chapter 1
Grace under Fire: Examining the Underrepresentation and Persistence of Women in STEM Professions from an Ecological Systems Theory Perspective ................................................................. 1
Ursula Thomas, Georgia Perimeter College, USA
Jill Drake, University of West Georgia, USA

Chapter 2
Constructing Conducive Environment for Women of Color in Engineering Undergraduate Education .............................................................................................................................................. 23
Hyun Kyoung Ro, Bowling Green State University, USA
Kadian McIntosh, University of Arizona, USA

Chapter 3
Barriers to Success: Disadvantages of Gender Normative Language to Women in STEM ................. 49
Melissa M. Haswell, Davenport University, USA

Chapter 4
Overcoming the Myriad of Obstacles: The Ongoing Journey as a Female African American Physicist .............................................................................................................................................. 67
Helen Cassandra Jackson, Wright State University, USA

Chapter 5
Standing Alone in Computer Science Education: A Story of Black Women in Academia............... 87
Mechelle Gittens, University of the West Indies – Cave Hill, Barbados

Chapter 6
Race and Gender Inequalities in Medicine and Biomedical Research .................................................. 115
Djana Harp, Morehouse School of Medicine, USA
Ruth S. Shim, Lenox Hill Hospital, USA
Japera Johnson, Morehouse School of Medicine, USA
Jamil A. Harp, Morehouse School of Medicine, USA
William Clyde Wilcox, Georgetown University, USA
Judith K. Wilcox, Boston University School of Medicine, USA
Chapter 7
African American Women in STEM Education: The Cycle of Microaggressions from P-12 Classrooms to Higher Education and Back................................................................. 135
Susan Ferguson Martin, University of South Alabama, USA
Andre Green, University of South Alabama, USA
Melissa Dean, University of South Alabama, USA

Chapter 8
Are Female STEM Majors Academic Risk Takers? .......................................................... 144
Tara L. R. Beziat, Auburn University – Montgomery, USA
Kristin M. McCombs, Wheeling Jesuit University, USA
Brooke A. Burks, Auburn University – Montgomery, USA
Jennifer Byrom, Auburn University – Montgomery, USA

Chapter 9
Fortitude: A Study of African Americans in Surgery in New York City ...................... 153
Robert S. Kurtz, SUNY Downstate Medical Center, USA

Chapter 10
Black Women and Science in Higher Education: Not Much Has Changed – Still the Struggle .... 170
Bonita Flournoy, Year UP Greater Atlanta, USA

Chapter 11
STEM Fields and Ethnic Women in New Zealand: Issues of Sexism and Racism .......... 181
Charles Mpofu, Auckland University of Technology, New Zealand

Chapter 12
Prestigious College Courses and Race/Skin Color: Some Thoughts about Higher Education in Brazil........................................................................................................... 208
Patricia Costa Pereira da Silva, Fluminense Federal University, Brazil

Chapter 13
Becoming a Trauma Surgeon: How Race Impacted My Journey .................................. 222
Ruby Skinner, Kern Medical Center, USA

Related References ........................................................................................................... 228
Compilation of References .................................................................................................. 267
About the Contributors ....................................................................................................... 295
Index ........................................................................................................................................ 299