Acknowledgment

The completion of this book would not be possible without the contributions, support and encouragement of our colleagues, advisors, friends and family. While we are unable to individually name everyone who assisted us in reaching our goal, we feel compelled to express our deep appreciation and indebtedness to the following individuals, in particular:

Finally, we would like to thank our entire Editorial Advisory Board, external reviewers, and anonymous peer reviewers. We also appreciate the support of the staff at our publishing company, IGI Global, for answering our questions, providing guidance, and believing in the relevance of our project.

Alison N. Novak dedicates this volume to her parents, Michael and Denise Novak; her colleagues and friends at Drexel University, Rowan University, and Temple University.

Imaani J. El-Burki dedicates the project to her daughter, Suraayah H. A. Greene; mother, Michelle D. Byng; sister, Aminah J. El-Burki; the memory of her father, Mustafa H. El-Burki and grandmothers Venetta E. Byng and Barbara J. Bryant.
