This book would not be possible if the editors did not enjoy the all heartedly support of the publisher, IGI Global. A chain of credible, helpful consultants, whose first link was Ms. Jan Travers and last Ms. Courtney Tychinski, walked with us the 18 month long bumpy way of forming the unstructured incoming material of interrelated articles to a thematic concatenation with strong cohesiveness and sturdy orientation. For the history of this book, it should be noted that the instigation force to proceed with such enthusiasm to new methods and experimental ideas was Dr. Mehdi Khosrow-Pour, with whom the editing team has shared, for quite some time, eagerness, commitment, and constructive feedback in driving the preclusive joy of research advancements to a handy perpetuation in printed matter.

In closing, we wish to express our deep appreciation to our families, to whom this book is devoted to, for providing us the needed inspirational resources to balance our careers and family trajectories.
