Table of Contents

Preface .................................................................................................................................................. xii

Acknowledgment .............................................................................................................................. xviii

Chapter 1
Diversity or Dilemma: The Cry for Social Freedom of MSM People Living in Dhaka City ............ 1
  Aumio Srizan Samya, University of Dhaka, Bangladesh

Chapter 2
Urban Nepali Women and Experiences of Love, Intimate Relations, and Media ......................... 20
  Nemu Joshi, University of London, UK

Chapter 3
Women, Migration, Ready Made Garment Factories in Dhaka: Formation of New Class, Culture, and Relationships? .............................................................................................................................. 41
  Soheli Khadiza Azad, Independent Researcher, USA

Chapter 4
Social Media and Conformist Voluntarism in the Neoliberal Era: The Case of Rana Plaza
Collapse in Savar, Bangladesh ........................................................................................................... 57
  Nafisa Tanjeem, Rutgers University, USA

Chapter 5
Women in Bangladesh Local Government: Critically Evaluating Their Participation and Empowerment ...................................................................................................................................... 80
  Md. Mostafizur Rahman Khan, University of Rajshahi, Bangladesh
  Fardaus Ara Dipty, University of Rajshahi, Bangladesh

Chapter 6
Effectiveness of Critical Discourse Analysis to Solve Constrained Employment Relations:
Application Based Study on Two Indian Organizations ........................................................................ 100
  Dipak Kumar Bhattacharyya, Xavier Institute of Management, India