Table of Contents

Foreword ........................................................................................................................................ xviii

Preface .......................................................................................................................................... xix

Acknowledgment ....................................................................................................................... xxxi

Chapter 1
Current Discussions on the Question: Remarks of Local Government’s Reform through Comparative Perspective ............................................................................................................ 1

  Ugur Sadioglu, Hacettepe University, Turkey
  Kadir Dede, Hacettepe University, Turkey

Chapter 2
The Normative Base of Local Government: Progress in Local Democracy and the Reformation
Process ......................................................................................................................................... 24

  Rusen Keles, Ankara University, Turkey

Chapter 3
Concept and Role of Local Self-Government in the Contemporary State ................................... 42

  Carlo Panara, Liverpool John Moores University, UK

Chapter 4
Cooperation between Local Authorities in Europe as a Force for Strengthening Local Democracy ...................................................................................................................................... 85

  Tim Lisney, Council of Europe, France
  Andreas Kiefer, Council of Europe, France

Chapter 5
Democratic Preferences of the Indirectly-Elected Mayor, Open or Locked-In: A Contribution to the “Difference Hypothesis” ........................................................................................................... 110

  Werner Pleschberger, BOKU University, Austria
Chapter 6
Why Municipal Cooperation Matters: Diversity and Research Agendas ........................................... 140
  Filipe Teles, University of Aveiro, Portugal
  Pekka Kettunen, Abo Akademi University, Finland

Chapter 7
Institutionalizing the Politics-Administration Dichotomy in Local Government: Reforming the Council-Manager System in Ireland ................................................................. 153
  Mark Callanan, Institute of Public Administration, Ireland

Chapter 8
Australian Local Government Perspectives on Contemporary Structural Reform ......................... 179
  Brian Dollery, University of New England, Australia
  Michael Kortt, Southern Cross University, Australia
  Joseph Drew, University of New England, Australia

Chapter 9
Contemporary Local Government Reform in New Zealand: Efficiency or Democracy ................ 205
  Mike Reid, Local Government New Zealand, New Zealand

Chapter 10
As You Like It or Much Ado about Nothing? Structural Reform in Local Government in Belgium ................................................................. 237
  Koenraad De Ceuninck, Ghent University, Belgium
  Kristof Steyvers, Ghent University, Belgium
  Tony Valcke, Ghent University, Belgium

Chapter 11
Italy: Remapping Local Government from Re-Allocation and Re-Shaping to Re-Scale ............... 265
  Silvia Bolgherini, University of Naples Federico II, Italy
  Andrea Lippi, University of Florence, Italy

Chapter 12
Directly Elected Mayors vs. Council Appointed Mayors – Which Effects on Local Government Systems? A Comparison between Italy and Spain ................................................. 288
  María Jesús García García, University of Valencia, Spain
  Alessandro Sancino, Open University Business School, UK

Chapter 13
Current Features and Developments of Local Governance in Finland: The Changing Roles of Citizens and Municipalities ................................................................. 304
  Hanna Vakkala, University of Lapland, Finland
  Jaana Leinonen, University of Lapland, Finland
Chapter 14
Changes in the Local Government System and Regional Policy in Poland: The Impact of Membership in the European Union .......................................................... 328
   Andrzej Klimczuk, Warsaw School of Economics, Poland
   Magdalena Klimczuk-Kochańska, University of Warsaw, Poland

Chapter 15
“Imperialism” and “Federalism”: The Ambiguity of State and City in Russia .................. 353
   Adrian Campbell, University of Birmingham, UK

Chapter 16
Changing Local Government System in Japan: “Unfinished” Decentralization Reform and Local Revitalization ................................................................. 373
   Satoru Ohsugi, Tokyo Metropolitan University, Japan

Chapter 17
Between Legitimation and Decentralisation: Explaining the Rise of a Plurinational State with Autonomies in 21st Century Bolivia ......................................................... 400
   Gustavo Xavier Bonifaz, The London School of Economics and Political Science, UK

Chapter 18
The Curbing of Corruption by Formal and Informal Accountability at the Indonesian Local Governments: Learning from Yogyakarta City ........................................... 441
   Muhammad Ichsan Kabullah, Radboud University, The Netherlands
   Syaiful Wahab, Andalas University, Indonesia

Chapter 19
Analysis and Comparison of the Role of Local Governments with Other Policy Actors in Disaster Relief via Social Media: The Case of Turkey ........................................... 462
   Mete Yildiz, Hacettepe University, Turkey
   Kamil Demirhan, Bulent Ecevit University, Turkey

Compilation of References ............................................................................................................... 484

About the Contributors ...................................................................................................................... 545

Index ...................................................................................................................................................... 552