Table of Contents

Preface.................................................................................................................................................. xv

Acknowledgment .................................................................................................................................... xxii

Section 1
Introduction

Chapter 1
Computational and Cognitive Approaches to Narratology from the Perspective of Narrative Generation................................................................................................................................. 1
   Takashi Ogata, Iwate Prefectural University, Japan

Section 2
Generation and Creation of Narratives

Chapter 2
The Possibility of the Literary Work Generation by Computer....................................................... 76
   Akinori Abe, Chiba University, Japan

Chapter 3
Designing a Socially Open Narrative Generation System.............................................................. 91
   Taisuke Akimoto, The University of Electro-Communications, Japan
   Takashi Ogata, Iwate Prefectural University, Japan

Chapter 4
An Attempt of the Commercial Film Production Support System Based on the Image Rhetoric of Commercial Film ................................................................. 118
   Yoji Kawamura, Kindai University, Japan

Chapter 5
Applying Digital Storytelling to Business Planning ........................................................................ 140
   Yoko Takeda, Yokohama National University, Japan
Chapter 6
Can Computers Create Comics and Animations? ................................................................. 164
Miki Ueno, Toyohashi University of Technology, Japan
Kiyohito Fukuda, Osaka Prefecture University, Japan
Naoki Mori, Osaka Prefecture University, Japan

Section 3
Language and Narrative

Chapter 7
Thesaurus with Predicate-Argument Structure to Provide Base Framework to Determine States,
Actions, and Change-of-States ................................................................. 192
Koichi Takeuchi, Okayama University, Japan

Chapter 8
The Word Order Flexibility in Japanese Novels: A Dynamic Syntax Perspective .................. 213
Tohru Seraku, Hankuk University of Foreign Studies, Korea
Akira Ohtani, Osaka Gakuin University, Japan

Chapter 9
The Employment Status and Support Needs of Persons with Disabilities in Japan: An Analysis of Narrative using Narratology and Text Mining on a National Survey .................................... 245
Kai Seino, National Institute of Vocational Rehabilitation, Keio Research Institute at SFC, Japan
Yuichiro Haruna, National Institute of Vocational Rehabilitation, Japan
Shun Ishizaki, Keio University, Japan

Chapter 10
Quantitative Research into Narrative: Statistical Analysis of “The Tale of Genji” ....................... 276
Gen Tsuchiyama, Doshisha University, Japan

Section 4
Cognition, Culture, and Narrative

Chapter 11
Assessing the Appeal Power of Narrative Performance by using Eyeblink Synchronization among
Audience ........................................................................................................ 304
Ryota Nomura, The University of Tokyo, Japan
Takeshi Okada, The University of Tokyo, Japan

Chapter 12
The Dilemma of Suspense: Neuronarratology, Cognitive Neurosciences, and Computer
Technology ..................................................................................................... 322
Sara Uboldi, University of Modena and Reggio Emilia, Italy
Stefano Calabrese, University of Modena e Reggio Emilia, Italy
Chapter 13
Fact, Narrative, Visualization as Fiction, and Love: Analysis of the Japanese Film The Land of Hope .......................................................... 333
   Yukiko Ogawa, Hosei University, Japan

Chapter 14
You Tell Me in Emojis .......................................................... 354
   Tüge T. Gülşen, Istanbul Bilgi University, Turkey

Chapter 15
Non-Story, Nostalgia, and Film Cognition: Nostalgia-Based Narrative Rhetoric Composition .... 376
   Akihito Kanai, Hosei University, Japan

Chapter 16
Kabuki as Multiple Narrative Structures .......................................................... 391
   Takashi Ogata, Iwate Prefectural University, Japan

Compilation of References .......................................................... 423

About the Contributors .......................................................... 460

Index .......................................................... 464