Volume I

Section 1
Fundamental Concepts and Theories

This section serves as a foundation for this exhaustive reference tool by addressing underlying principles essential to the understanding of blended learning. Chapters found within these pages provide an excellent framework in which to position blended learning within the field of information science and technology. Insight regarding the critical incorporation of global measures into blended learning is addressed, while crucial stumbling blocks of this field are explored. With 17 chapters comprising this foundational section, the reader can learn and chose from a compendium of expert research on the elemental theories underscoring the blended learning discipline.

Chapter 1
Hybrid Learning: Perspectives of Higher Education Faculty.............................................................................. 1

Nahed Abdelrahman, Texas A&M University, USA
Beverly J. Irby, Texas A&M University, USA

Chapter 2
Flipping Learning! Challenges in Deploying Online Resources to Flipped Learning in Higher Education.............................................................................................................................................. 29

Muriel Wells, Deakin University, Australia
Charlotte Holland, Dublin City University, Ireland

Chapter 3
A Three-Dimensional Environment of Personalized Recommendation of Learning Objects to Support Ubiquitous Learning................................................................................................................ 48

Rodrigo Valença Cavalcante Frade, Rural Federal University of Semi-Arid, Brazil
Francisco Milton Mendes Neto, Rural Federal University of Semi-Arid, Brazil
Rafael Castro de Souza, Rural Federal University of Semi-Arid, Brazil

Chapter 4
Flipping First-Year English: Strengthening Teacher-Student Conferencing through Online Modules................................................................................................................................................. 74

Dana Edwards Prodoehl, University of Wisconsin – Whitewater, USA
Chapter 5
Fostering Collaborative Learning with Mobile Web 2.0 in Semi-Formal Settings ......................... 97
Daisy Mwanza-Simwami, The Open University, UK

Chapter 6
i2Flex and the Community of Inquiry Framework: How Their Blend Transformed My IB French Class .................................................................................................................. 115
Antonia Fyrigou, American Community Schools (ACS) Athens, Greece

Chapter 7
The i2Flex Methodology: Definition, Praxis, and Conditions for Success ..................................... 130
Maria D. Avgerinou, American Community Schools (ACS) Athens, Greece
Stefanos P. Gialamas, American Community Schools (ACS) Athens, Greece

Chapter 8
Innovative Instruction in STEM Education: The Role of Student Feedback in the Development of a Flipped Classroom ................................................................................................... 155
Victoria C. Coyle, University at Albany/SUNY, USA
Dianna L. Newman, University at Albany/SUNY, USA
Kenneth A. Connor, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, USA

Chapter 9
Seamless Learning Environments in Higher Education with Mobile Devices and Examples .......... 181
Victoria I. Marín, University of the Balearic Islands, Spain
Päivi Jääskelä, University of Jyvaskyla, Finland
Päivi Häkkinen, University of Jyvaskyla, Finland
Merja Juntunen, University of Jyvaskyla, Finland
Helena Rasku-Puttonen, University of Jyvaskyla, Finland
Mikko Vesisenaho, University of Jyvaskyla, Finland

Chapter 10
Teaching Spanish in the Digital Age: A Flipped Classroom or Just Hybrid? ............................... 201
Clara Burgo, Loyola University Chicago, USA

Chapter 11
Teaching Strategies and Tactics in K-12 Blended Education: The Flipped Classroom Model .......... 222
Anne Katz, Armstrong State University, USA
Jackie Hee-Young Kim, Armstrong State University, USA

Chapter 12
The Blended Learning Environment in Higher Education: The Tutor and Student Perspective ........ 252
Ellen Boeren, University of Edinburgh, UK
Chapter 13
The Flipped K-12 Classroom: Implications for Teacher Preparation, Professional Development, and Educational Leadership
Vanessa P. Dennen, Florida State University, USA
Jonathan Michael Spector, University of North Texas, USA

Chapter 14
The Peer Instruction Flipped Learning Model
Troy Faulkner, Byron High School, USA
Jennifer Green, Byron High School, USA

Chapter 15
Transforming Learning with Mobile Games: Learning with mGames
Kristin Villanueva, Columbia University, USA
Jeanny Vaidya, Columbia University, USA

Chapter 16
The View from a Flipped Classroom: Improved Student Success and Subject Mastery in Organic Chemistry
Bridget G. Trogden, Mercer University, USA

Chapter 17
A Kaleidoscope of Variables: The Complex Nature of Online Education in Composition Courses
Christopher Friend, Saint Leo University, USA
Sean Michael Morris, Hybrid Pedagogy, USA
Jesse Stommel, University of Wisconsin – Madison, USA

Section 2
Development and Design Methodologies
This section provides in-depth coverage of conceptual architecture frameworks to provide the reader with a comprehensive understanding of the emerging developments within the field of blended learning. Research fundamentals imperative to the understanding of developmental processes within blended learning are offered. From broad examinations to specific discussions on methodology, the research found within this section spans the discipline while offering detailed, specific discussions. From basic designs to abstract development, these chapters serve to expand the reaches of development and design technologies within the blended learning community. This section includes 14 contributions from researchers throughout the world on the topic of blended learning.

Chapter 18
Design and Development of Educational Multimedia: The Software Development Process for Mobile Learning
Ibrahim Arpaci, Gaziosmanpasa University, Turkey
Chapter 19
Applying the Polysynchronous Learning to Foster the Student-Centered Learning in the Higher Education Context: A Blended Course Design ......................................................... 385
   Fan Ouyang, University of Minnesota, USA

Chapter 20
Flipping the Composition Classroom ........................................................................... 404
   Susan Crisafulli, Franklin College, USA

Chapter 21
Framework to Develop a Learning Analytics System for Smartphone Blended Learning Environment ...................................................................................................... 423
   Mazharuddin Syed Ahmed, University of Canterbury, New Zealand

Chapter 22
Guidelines for Design and Implementation of Mobile Learning .................................. 443
   Mohamed Ally, Athabasca University, Canada
   Mohammed Samaka, Qatar University, Qatar

Chapter 23
Instructional Re-design for an Active Flipped Classroom: Two Frameworks Are Better than One ................................................................................................................ 459
   Kim A. Hosler, University of Denver, USA

Chapter 24
Master in Innovative Tourism Development: A Blended Learning Experience in the Polytechnic Institute of Viana do Castelo .......................................................... 474
   Sandra Vieira Vasconcelos, Polytechnic Institute of Viana do Castelo, Portugal
   Ana Balula, University of Aveiro, Portugal
   Pedro Almeida, University of Aveiro, Portugal

Chapter 25
Mobile Learning for Sales Force Development: Building Skills While Meeting Quota .......... 494
   Agustín Couto, Columbia University, Brazil

Chapter 26
Practical Guidelines for Creating Online Courses in K-12 Education ................................ 507
   Wayne Journell, University of North Carolina at Greensboro, USA

Chapter 27
Like It: A Facebook E-Learning Architecture for Higher Education ................................. 530
   Mary Leigh Morhey, York University, Canada
   Farhad Mordechai Sabeti, Bnei Akiva Schools of Toronto, Canada
   Michelle Sengara, York University, Canada
Volume II

Chapter 28
Principles of Instructional Design for E-Learning and Online Learning Practices: Implications for Medical Education .......................................................... 551

Erdem Demiroz, University of Missouri-Kansas City, USA

Chapter 29
Preparing Online Learning Readiness with Learner-Content Interaction: Design for Scaffolding Self-Regulated Learning .......................................................... 586

Juhong Christie Liu, James Madison University, USA
Elaine Roberts Kaye, James Madison University, USA

Chapter 30
Presence and Perceived Learning in Different Higher Education Blended Learning Environments ........................................................................................................ 615

Rouhollah Khodabandelou, Universiti Putra Malaysia, Malaysia & HELP University, Malaysia
Habibah Ab Jalil, Universiti Putra Malaysia, Malaysia
Wan Zah Wan Ali, Universiti Putra Malaysia, Malaysia
Shaffe Mohd Daud, Universiti Putra Malaysia, Malaysia

Chapter 31
Create, Transform, and Share: Empowering Creativity and Self-Expression through Mobile Learning ........................................................................................................ 628

Maria Ranieri, University of Florence, Italy
Isabella Bruni, Italian Association for Media Education (MED), Italy

Section 3
Tools and Technologies

This section presents an extensive coverage of various tools and technologies available in the field of blended learning that practitioners and academicians alike can utilize to develop different techniques. These chapters enlighten readers about fundamental research on the many tools facilitating the burgeoning field of blended learning. It is through these rigorously researched chapters that the reader is provided with countless examples of the up-and-coming tools and technologies emerging from the field of blended learning. With 15 chapters, this section offers a broad treatment of some of the many tools and technologies within the blended learning field.

Chapter 32
Learning Goes Mobile: Devices and APPS for the Practice of Contents at Tertiary Level ............ 650

Ana Iglesias Rodríguez, University of Salamanca, Spain
Blanca García Riaza, University of Salamanca, Spain

Chapter 33
Collaborative Mobile Learning: A Systematic Literature Review.............................................. 676

Nor Fadzleen Sa’don, Universiti Teknologi Malaysia, Malaysia
Noorminshah A. Iahad, Universiti Teknologi Malaysia, Malaysia
Chapter 34
Deceptive Promises: The Meaning of MOOCs-Hype for Higher Education ........................................ 691
   Stefan Popenici, The University of Melbourne, Australia

Chapter 35
Flipped Instructional Technology: Developing MIS Competencies Applying Enterprise Resource Planning .......................................................... 702
   Kevin Paul Barrons, Grand Valley State University, USA

Chapter 36
Language Learners and Mobile Technology: How They Interact? .............................................................. 713
   Saleh Al-Shehri, King Khalid University, Saudi Arabia

Chapter 37
Learning Maths with Mobiles: Cross-Cultural Design of Technology with Experiences in South-Africa and Finland ................................................. 741
   Teija Vainio, University of Tampere, Finland
   Tanja Walsh, Tampere University of Technology, Finland

Chapter 38
Learning through Web-Based Authoring Tools ........................................................................... 760
   Tony Lee, University of Oklahoma, USA
   Doo Hun Lim, University of Oklahoma, USA

Chapter 39
Mobile First E-Learning .................................................................................................................. 770
   Matthew Xavier Curinga, Adelphi University, USA
   Antonios Saravanos, New York University, USA

Chapter 40
Mobile Learning: A Bridging Technology of Learner Entry Behavior in a Flipped Classroom Model ............................................................................... 784
   Bonface Ngari Ireri, Africa Nazarene University, Kenya
   Elijah I. Omwenga, University of Nairobi, Kenya

Chapter 41
Mobile Technologies for Student Centered Learning in a Distance Higher Education Program ...... 802
   Lisbeth Amhag, Malmo University, Sweden

Chapter 42
Mobile-Assisted Language Learning: Research-Based Best Practices for Maximizing Learner Success .................................................................................................................. 818
   Katharine B. Nielson, Voxy, USA
Section 4

Utilization and Application

This section discusses a variety of applications and opportunities available that can be considered by practitioners in developing viable and effective blended learning programs and processes. This section includes 16 chapters that review topics from case studies to best practices and ongoing research. Further chapters discuss blended learning in a variety of settings. Contributions included in this section provide excellent coverage of today’s IT community and how research into blended learning is impacting the social fabric of our present-day global village.

Chapter 47
A Mixed Methods Examination of Instructor Social Presence in Accelerated Online Courses........ 949
Patrick R. Lowenthal, Boise State University, USA
Chapter 48
Assessing Foreign Language Learning Through Mobile Game-Based Learning Environments .... 964
  Manuel Palomo-Duarte, University of Cadiz, Spain
  Anke Berns, University of Cadiz, Spain
  Alberto Cejas, University of Cadiz, Spain
  Juan Manuel Dodero, University of Cadiz, Spain
  Juan Antonio Caballero, University of Cadiz, Spain
  Iván Ruiz-Rube, University of Cadiz, Spain

Chapter 49
Identifying the Contributors to Improve Mobile-Based TPACK Competency of Elementary
School Teachers in China........................................................................................................ 982
  Zhong Sun, Capital Normal University, China
  Jiaxin You, Capital Normal University, China
  Wei Song, Capital Normal University, China
  Zheng Qu, Capital Normal University, China
  Liming Luo, Capital Normal University, China

Chapter 50
Applying Augmented Reality to a Mobile-Assisted Learning System for Martial Arts Using
Kinect Motion Capture ........................................................................................................ 1000
  Wen-Chun Hsu, National University of Tainan, Taiwan
  Ju-Ling Shih, National University of Tainan, Taiwan

Chapter 51
Assessing Online Courses in Health Education: Training a 21st Century Health Workforce .... 1017
  Debra N. Weiss, Florida Atlantic University, USA

Chapter 52
Assessing the Effectiveness of Interactive and Collaborative Resources to Improve Reading and Writing in English................................................................................................................... 1047
  Ana María Pinto Llorente, Pontifical University of Salamanca, Spain
  María Cruz Sánchez Gómez, University of Salamanca, Spain
  Francisco José García-Peñalvo, University of Salamanca, Spain

Chapter 53
Evaluation of Mobile Learning with The Eight-Dimensional E-Learning Framework........... 1068
  Özlem Efiloğlu Kurt, Yalova University, Turkey
  Esra İşgör Şimşek, Yalova University, Turkey
Chapter 54
Investigating Mobile Assisted English Foreign Language Learning and Teaching in China: Issues, Attitudes and Perceptions

Haixia Liu, Michigan State University, USA & Beijing Normal University Zhuhai Campus, China
Wenhao Tao, Beijing Normal University Zhuhai Campus, China
William Cain, Michigan State University, USA

Chapter 55
Investigating the Daily Use of Mobile Phones as Tools to Enhance mLearning for Local Cultural Subjects in the Context of Malaysian Universities

Shamsul Arrieya Ariffin, Sultan Idris Education University (UPSI), Malaysia

Volume III

Chapter 56
Learner Assessment in Blended and Online Settings

Kay A. Persichitte, University of Wyoming, USA
Suzanne Young, University of Wyoming, USA
Tonia A. Dousay, University of Wyoming, USA

Chapter 57
Library and Information Services for Open and Distance Learning: Assessing the Role of Mobile Technologies and Distance Learning in Higher Education

Ugwunwa Chinyere Esse, Covenant University, Nigeria
Happiness Ohaegbulam, Covenant University, Nigeria

Chapter 58
Teaching and Learning Online: An Examination of Effective Techniques, Practices, and Processes

Angelia Yount, Ball State University, USA
Kwesi Tandoh, Ball State University, USA

Chapter 59
Teaching and Learning Requirements Engineering Based on Mobile Devices and Cloud: A Case Study

Fernando Moreira, Universidade Portucalense, Portugal
Maria João Ferreira, Universidade Portucalense, Portugal & Centro Algoritmi, Universidade do Minho, Portugal

Chapter 60
The Commuter’s Learning Journey: Field Observations Informing Mobile Learning Initiatives

Dominic Mentor, Columbia University, USA
Chapter 61
The Continuous and Systematic Study of the College Algebra Flipped Classroom

Lori Ogden, West Virginia University, USA
Neal Shambaugh, West Virginia University, USA

Chapter 62
The Effects of Flipped Classrooms on English Composition Writing in an EFL Environment

Adrian Leis, Miyagi University of Education, Japan
Simon Cooke, Tohoku Institute of Technology, Japan
Akihiko Tohei, Sakura no Seibo Junior College, Japan

Section 5
Organizational and Social Implications

This section includes a wide range of research pertaining to the social and behavioral impact of blended learning around the world. Chapters introducing this section critically analyze and discuss trends in blended learning. Also investigating a concern within the field of blended learning is research which discusses the effect of user behavior on blended learning. With 14 chapters, the discussions presented in this section offer research into the integration of global blended learning as well as implementation of ethical and workflow considerations for all organizations.

Chapter 63
Through the Eyes of Students and Faculty: A Conceptual Framework for the Development of Online Courses

Maysaa Barakat, Florida Atlantic University, USA
Debra N. Weiss-Randall, Florida Atlantic University, USA

Chapter 64
Urban Games: How to Increase the Motivation, Interaction and Perceived Learning of Students in the Schools

Liliana Vieira, Universidade do Minho, Braga, Portugal
Clara Coutinho, Universidade do Minho, Braga, Portugal

Chapter 65
Encouraging and Increasing Student Engagement and Participation in an Online Classroom

Kathryn Woods, Austin Peay State University, USA

Chapter 66
Engaging Students to Learn Physics and Mathematics through Short High Quality M-Learning Resources: Design and Implementation Recommendations

Luis Neri, Tecnológico de Monterrey, Mexico
Julieta Noguez, Tecnológico de Monterrey, Mexico
Jessica Morales Whitney, Pfizer, Mexico
Gerardo Aguilar-Sanchez, Tecnológico de Monterrey, Mexico
Chapter 67
Examining Social Presence Influence on Students’ Satisfaction with Online Learning Environments .............................................................. 1378
Fadi Khalil Dajani, Kaplan University, USA

Chapter 68
How Students in a First-Year Composition Course Respond to the Flipped Classroom .......... 1405
Christina R. Grimsley, Texas Woman’s University, USA

Chapter 69
I Have a Story to Tell You: Engaging Learners and Issues in Distance Learning of Yasar University ................................................................. 1426
Serra Inci Celebi, Yasar University, Turkey

Chapter 70
Increasing Learner Interaction in Large-Scale Lectures by Using a Mobile Learning Application ................................................................. 1453
Katja Lehmann, University of Kassel, Germany
Matthias Söllner, University of St. Gallen, Switzerland & University of Kassel, Germany
Jan Marco Leimeister, University of St. Gallen, Switzerland & University of Kassel, Germany

Chapter 71
Maintaining Motivation in Online Students: An Examination of the ARCS-V Motivation Model ................................................................. 1472
Cindy Stewart, University of Houston – Downtown, USA
Travis Crone, University of Houston – Downtown, USA

Chapter 72
Preparing University Students for Flipped Learning .................................................................................................................. 1510
Linda Cresap, Minot State University, USA

Chapter 73
Students’ Perceptions of Teaching and Social Presence: A Comparative Analysis of Face-to-Face and Online Learning Environments .................................................................................. 1532
James Bowers, Saginaw Valley State University, USA
Poonam Kumar, Saginaw Valley State University, USA

Chapter 74
The Value of Social Presence in Developing Student Satisfaction and Learning Outcomes in Online Environments .......................................................... 1551
Michael Marmon, University of North Texas, USA
Chapter 75
University Teachers’ Interactions with Their Online Students at an Australian University .......... 1565
  Shamsul Arifeen Khan Mamun, University of Southern Queensland, Australia
  P. A. Danaher, University of Southern Queensland, Australia
  Mohammad Mafizur Rahman, University of Southern Queensland, Australia

Chapter 76
Understanding Strategies of Teacher-Student Interaction: The Impact on Student Experience and Learning Outcomes in Online Education................................................................. 1596
  Tarryn L. Kille, Griffith University, Australia

Section 6
Managerial Impact

The 7 chapters within this section present contemporary coverage of the social implications of blended learning, more specifically related to the corporate and managerial utilization of information sharing technologies and applications, and how these technologies can be extrapolated to be used in blended learning. Equally as crucial, chapters within this section discuss how leaders can utilize blended learning applications to get the best outcomes from their governors and their citizens.

Chapter 77
The Perception of Faculty Members on Hybrid Learning: A Naturalistic Case Study .......... 1620
  Nahed Abdelrahman, Texas A&M University, USA
  Beverly J. Irby, Texas A&M University, USA

Chapter 78
Internationalising Social Work Education Using Massive Open Online Courses ..................... 1648
  Linette Hawkins, RMIT University, Australia
  Jennifer Martin, RMIT University, Australia
  Elspeth McKay, RMIT University, Australia
  Supriya Pattanayak, Centurion University, Odisha, India & RMIT University, Australia

Chapter 79
Barriers and Challenges Facing Pre-Service Teachers Use of Mobile Technologies for Teaching and Learning ................................................................. 1665
  Kevin Burden, The University of Hull, UK
  Paul Hopkins, The University of Hull, UK

Volume IV

Chapter 80
Leveraging Teaching Presence in Online Courses: Strategies, Technology, and Student Perspectives ................................................................. 1687
  Kun Huang, Mississippi State University, USA
  Sang Joon Lee, Mississippi State University, USA
  Ashley Dugan, Mississippi State University, USA
Chapter 81
Online Instructors as Distance Education Experts................................................................. 1712
Libi Shen, University of Phoenix, USA

Chapter 82
The Human Element MOOC ......................................................................................... 1736
Whitney Kilgore, University of North Texas, USA
Patrick R. Lowenthal, Boise State University, USA

Chapter 83
Mobile Learning in Workforce Development: Cultivating Creativity on Action Learning Teams through Higher-Order mLearning....................................................................................... 1756
Shawn McCann, United States Marine Corps, USA

Section 7
Critical Issues
This section contains 13 chapters, giving a wide variety of perspectives on blended learning and its implications. Within the chapters, the reader is presented with an in-depth analysis of the most current and relevant issues within this growing field of study. Crucial questions are addressed and alternatives offered along with theoretical approaches discussed.

Chapter 84
A Blended Approach to Teacher Education........................................................................ 1778
Norman Vaughan, Mount Royal University, Canada

Chapter 85
A Challenge for the Flipped Classroom: Addressing Spatial Divides................................. 1800
Russell G. Carpenter, Eastern Kentucky University, USA
Charlie Sweet, Eastern Kentucky University, USA
Hal Blythe, Eastern Kentucky University, USA
Rachel Winter, Eastern Kentucky University, USA
Adam Bunnell, Eastern Kentucky University, USA

Chapter 86
A Method Based on Self-Study Log Information for Improving Effectiveness of Classroom
Component in Flipped Classroom Approach...................................................................... 1818
Katsuyuki Umezawa, Hitachi, Ltd., Japan
Takashi Ishida, Takasaki City University of Economics, Japan
Michitaka Aramoto, Ad-Sol Nissin Corporation, Japan
Manabu Kobayashi, Shonan Institute of Technology, Japan
Makoto Nakazawa, The University of Aizu, Japan
Shigeichi Hirasawa, Waseda University, Japan
Chapter 87
Challenges in Implementing the Flipped Classroom Model in Higher Education ........................................... 1835
  Lakshmi Chellapan, University of Otago, New Zealand
  Jacques van der Meer, University of Otago, New Zealand

Chapter 88
Complex Mobile Learning that Adapts to Learners’ Cognitive Load .............................................................. 1850
  Robin Deegan, Cork Institute of Technology, Ireland

Chapter 89
Flipping the Classroom: Challenges of Implementation ..................................................................................... 1863
  Jamie Gardner, Mount Saint Joseph University, USA

Chapter 90
Implementing a Flipped Classroom in Teaching Second Language Pronunciation: Challenges, Solutions, and Expectations ................................................................................................. 1882
  Kazuhiro Yonemoto, Tokyo Medical and Dental University, Japan
  Asami Tsuda, Columbia University, USA
  Hisako Hayashi, Carleton University, Canada

Chapter 91
Learning Outcomes and Affective Factors of Blended Learning of English for Library Science ............................................................. 1898
  Chen Wentao, Zhejiang Yuexiu University of Foreign Languages, China
  Zhang Jinyu, Zhejiang Yuexiu University of Foreign Languages, China
  Yu Zhonggen, Hohai University, China

Chapter 92
Students’ Sense of Belonging in Online Classes: Does Age Matter? ................................................................. 1912
  Jessica Decker, University of La Verne, USA
  Valerie Beltran, University of La Verne, USA

Chapter 93
The Effects of Mobile Collaborative Activities in a Second Language Course ...................................................... 1926
  Peter Ilic, Toyo University, Japan

Chapter 94
To Be or Not to Be Successful? That Does Not Only Depend on Technology, But Also on Human Factors ............................................................................................................................... 1948
  Ana María Pinto Llorente, Pontificial University of Salamanca, Spain
  María Cruz Sánchez Gómez, University of Salamanca, Spain
  Francisco José García-Peñalvo, University of Salamanca, Spain

Chapter 95
Understanding Flipped Instructions and How They Work In the Real World ...................................................... 1970
  Shani Salifu, Concord University, USA
Chapter 96
Unbounded Reading: Why Online Learning for K-12 Students Should Be a Literacy Issue .......... 1989
Dixie D. Massey, University of Washington, USA

Section 8
Emerging Trends

This section highlights research potential within the field of blended learning while exploring uncharted areas of study for the advancement of the discipline. Introducing this section are chapters that set the stage for future research directions and topical suggestions for continued debate, centering on the new venues and forums for discussion. A pair of chapters on space-time makes up the middle of the section of the final 12 chapters, and the book concludes with a look ahead into the future of the blended learning field. In all, this text will serve as a vital resource to practitioners and academics interested in the best practices and applications of the burgeoning field of blended learning.

Chapter 97
Past, Future and Presents: Meeting New Online Challenges with Primal Marketing Solutions ...... 2010
Ruth Gannon Cook, DePaul University School for New Learning, USA
Kathryn Ley, University of Houston Clear Lake, USA

Chapter 98
Flying SOLO for Student Success ................................................................. 2025
Regina L. Garza Mitchell, Western Michigan University, USA
Gina L. Cano-Monreal, Texas State Technical College, USA

Chapter 99
The Role of Mobile Learning in Promoting Literacy and Human Rights for Women and Girls ..... 2047
Judith M. Dunkerly-Bean, Old Dominion University, USA
Helen Crompton, Old Dominion University, USA

Chapter 100
Combating Terrorism through Peace Education: Online Educational Perspective ................. 2077
Eugenie de Silva, University of Leicester, UK
Eugene de Silva, Virginia Research Institute, USA
Eriberta B. Nepomuceno, Bicol University, Philippines

Chapter 101
Research Trends in the Use of Mobile Learning in Mathematics ............................................. 2090
Helen Crompton, Old Dominion University, USA
Diane Burke, Keuka College, USA

Chapter 102
The MOOCs: Characteristics, Benefits, and Challenges to Both Industry and Higher Education ................................................................. 2105
John F. LeCounte, Texas A&M University, USA
Detra Johnson, Texas A&M University, USA
Chapter 103
Enhancing Active Learning Pedagogy through Online Collaborative Learning ................................. 2126
E. Muuro Maina, Kenyatta University, Kenya
Peter W. Wagacha, University of Nairobi, Kenya
Robert Oboko, University of Nairobi, Kenya

Chapter 104
Is Flipped Classroom a Tendency or a Fad? The Point of View of Future Teachers in the Philippines................................................................................................................................. 2150
Michel Plaisent, University of Quebec Montreal, Canada
Filomena Dayagbil, Cebu Normal University, Philippines
Angeline M. Pogoy, Cebu Normal University, Philippines
Prosper Bernard, University Consortium Americas, Philippines

Chapter 105
Net Generation Features that Enhance Mobile Learning........................................................................... 2169
Maria Soledad Padrón Moctezuma, Sistema Educativo Estatal Regular, Mexico
Miguel Angel Vasquez Ochoa, Universidad Estatal de Sonora, Mexico
María Soledad Montoya Ramírez, Tecnológico de Monterrey, Mexico

Chapter 106
Toward an Open Empowered Learning Model of Pedagogy in Higher Education .............................. 2196
Robyn Smyth, University of Southern Queensland, Australia
Carina Bossu, University of Tasmania, Australia
Adrian Stagg, University of Southern Queensland, Australia

Chapter 107
Visualizing the Evolution of Mobile Learning Research.............................................................................. 2215
Hüseyin Özçınar, Pamukkale University, Turkey

Chapter 108
Virtually Sound: Flipped Classrooms and Other Learning Spaces ............................................................ 2237
Frances Di Lauro, The University of Sydney, Australia

Index............................................................................................................................................................ xxix
