Acknowledgment

The editors would like to take this opportunity to express their gratitude to the following parties:

All contributors. Without your support and quality contributions, this book would not have been able to be published.

All reviewers. Your voluntary effort and time devoted in reviewing the articles have maintained a good selection of chapters. Your constructive comments also help safeguard the quality of the chapters.

The University of Nottingham Ningbo China and Nottingham University Business School China for their kind support to host the conference, and their generous financial support.

Finally, we are grateful to the IGI Global staff for their superb support and patience during the production of this book. Special mention goes to Courtney Tychinski, the Development Editor of this book, and Jan Travers, the Director of Intellectual Property and Contracts, as the book has encountered a couple of delays and their support in due course is very much appreciated.
