Acknowledgment

This book was inspired by my experience during a Summer, 2014 Fulbright-Hays Group Projects Abroad Grant that allowed me to travel with 6 pre and 6 in-service teachers to the Republic of Korea for one month. While being overseas with these educators, I realized the importance of considering global issues and culturally sustainable teaching. I also subsequently believed that a book focusing on study abroad programs for educators was sorely needed, particularly for faculty who would like to carry out similar experiences.

The development of this book would not have been possible without the insights of the following New Jersey teacher candidates and teachers as well as two accompanying professors from William Paterson University:

Participants: Mary Bonitatibus-Garrity, Scott Demeter, Melissa Diaz, James Kiamie, Ivan Rosa, Shanthia Williams, Sean Coogan, Christina Clarry, Samantha Kopp, Chelsea Olsen, Yeimi Vasquez, and Alexandra Vervoort

Faculty: Dr. Keumjae Park, and Dr. Carrie Eunyoung Hong

Warmly,

Heejung An
William Paterson University, USA