Table of Contents

Preface .................................................................................................................................................. xv
Acknowledgment .................................................................................................................................. xxii

Section I
Multimedia Learning: Cognitive Perspectives

Chapter I
Cognitive Architecture and Instructional Design in a Multimedia Context ........................................... 1
Renae Low, University of New South Wales, Australia
Putai Jin, University of New South Wales, Australia
John Sweller, University of New South Wales, Australia

Chapter II
Multimedia Learning and Working Memory Capacity ............................................................................... 17
Peter E. Doolittle, Virginia Tech, USA
Krista P. Terry, Radford University, USA
Gina J. Mariano, Virginia Tech, USA

Chapter III
Measurement of Cognitive Load During Multimedia Learning Activities ................................................. 34
Anne E. Cook, University of Utah, USA
Robert Z. Zheng, University of Utah, USA
Jacquelyn W. Blaz, University of Utah, USA

Chapter IV
Manipulating Multimedia Materials ........................................................................................................ 51
Stephen K. Reed, San Diego State University, USA
Chapter V
Theoretical and Instructional Aspects of Learning with Visualizations ............................................ 67
Katharina Scheiter, University of Tuebingen, Germany
Eric Wiebe, North Carolina State University, USA
Jana Holsanova, Lund University, Sweden

Chapter VI
The Influence of Visual and Temporal Dynamics on Split Attention: Evidences from Eye Tracking ................................................................. 89
Florian Schmidt-Weigand, University of Kassel, Germany

Chapter VII
Spatial and Nonspatial Integration in Learning and Training with Multimedia Systems ................. 108
Tad T. Brunyé, U.S. Army NSRDEC, Consumer Research & Cognitive Science, USA & Tufts University, USA
Tali Ditman, Tufts University, USA & Massachusetts General Hospital, USA
Jason S. Augustyn, U.S. Army NSRDEC, Consumer Research & Cognitive Science, USA
Caroline R. Mahoney, U.S. Army NSRDEC, Consumer Research & Cognitive Science, USA & Tufts University, USA

Chapter VIII
New Forms of Deep Learning on the Web: Meeting the Challenge of Cognitive Load in Conditions of Unfettered Exploration in Online Multimedia Environments ........................................... 134
Mike DeSchryver, Michigan State University, USA
Rand J. Spiro, Michigan State University, USA

Section II
Multimedia Learning: Affective Perspectives

Chapter IX
Motivation and Multimedia Learning .................................................................................................. 154
Renae Low, University of New South Wales, Australia
Putai Jin, University of New South Wales, Australia

Chapter X
What Factors Make a Multimedia Learning Environment Engaging: A Case Study .................. 173
Min Liu, University of Texas at Austin, USA
Paul Toprac, Southern Methodist University, USA
Timothy T. Yuen, University of Texas at Austin, USA
Section III
Teaching and Learning with Multimedia

Chapter XI
The Cognitive Demands of Student-Centered, Web-Based Multimedia: Current and Emerging Perspectives...

Michael J. Hannafin, University of Georgia, USA
Richard E. West, University of Georgia, USA
Craig E. Shepherd, University of Wyoming, USA

Chapter XII
Supporting Discovery-Based Learning within Simulations

Lloyd P. Rieber, The University of Georgia, USA

Chapter XIII
Fostering Transfer in Multimedia Instructional Environments

Gina J. Mariano, Virginia Tech, USA
Peter E. Doolittle, Virginia Tech, USA
David Hicks, Virginia Tech, USA

Chapter XIV
Conceptual Customization for Learning with Multimedia: Developing Individual Instructional Experiences to Support Science Understanding

Kirsten R. Butcher, University of Utah, USA
Sebastian de la Chica, University of Colorado at Boulder, USA
Faisal Ahmad, University of Colorado at Boulder, USA
Qianyi Gu, University of Colorado at Boulder, USA
Tamara Sumner, University of Colorado at Boulder, USA
James H. Martin, University of Colorado at Boulder, USA

Chapter XV
Designing Multimedia to Trace Goal Setting in Studying

Mingming Zhou, Simon Fraser University, Canada
Philip H. Winne, Simon Fraser University, Canada

Chapter XVI
Using Narrative and Game-Schema Acquisition Techniques to Support Learning from Educational Games

Alan D. Koenig, University of California–Los Angeles, USA
Robert K. Atkinson, Arizona State University, USA
Chapter XVII
How Literacy Emerges from Living Books in the Digital Era: New Chances for Young Linguistically Disadvantaged Children ................................................................. 326
  Marian J.A.J. Verhallen, Leiden University, The Netherlands
  Adriana G. Bus, Leiden University, The Netherlands

Chapter XVIII
Emergence of Analogies in Collaboratively Conducted Computer Simulations .................. 340
  Wolff-Michael Roth, University of Victoria, Canada

Compilation of References ............................................................................................................ 362

About the Contributors .................................................................................................................... 408

Index ................................................................................................................................................... 415