Table of Contents

Foreword .................................................................................................................................................. xviii

Preface .................................................................................................................................................. xx

Acknowledgment .................................................................................................................................. xxviii

Section 1

Cheating Conceptualized

Chapter 1
What Is Cheating? Definitions by International Pre-University Pathway Students .......................... 1
   Donna M. Velliaris, University of South Australia, Australia

Chapter 2
   Hongwei Yu, Baylor University, USA
   Perry L. Glanzer, Baylor University, USA
   Byron Johnson, Baylor University, USA

Chapter 3
Institutionalizing Academic Integrity: The Present Need .............................................................. 60
   Neeta Baporikar, Namibia University of Science and Technology, Namibia

Section 2

Technological Tactics

Chapter 4
Academic Misconduct and the Internet .............................................................................................. 82
   David Ison, Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University (ERAU), USA
Chapter 5
Cheating: Digital Learning Activities and Challenges ................................................................. 112
  Cassandra Sligh Conway, South Carolina State University, USA
  Stanley Harris, South Carolina State University, USA
  Yvonne Sims, South Carolina State University, USA
  Susan Smith, South Carolina State University, USA
  Bridget Hollis Staten, South Carolina State University, USA
  Michelle Maulsby, South Carolina State University, USA
  Gloria Hayes, Miles College, USA
  Philliph Mutisya, North Carolina Central University, USA
  James Osler, North Carolina Central University, USA

Chapter 6
What Category Are They Anyway? Proposing a New Taxonomy for Factors that May Influence
Students’ Likelihood to E-Cheat........................................................................................................ 131
  Zeenath Reza Khan, University of Wollongong – Dubai, UAE

Section 3
Professional Principles

Chapter 7
Academic Dishonesty among Engineering Undergraduates in the United States ....................... 160
  Trevor S. Harding, California Polytechnic State University – San Luis Obispo, USA
  Cynthia J. Finelli, University of Michigan, USA
  Donald D. Carpenter, Lawrence Technological University, USA

Chapter 8
Ignorance or Intent? A Case Study of Plagiarism in Higher Education among LIS Students in the Caribbean........................................................................................................................................ 182
  Ruth Baker-Gardner, The University of the West Indies – Mona, Jamaica
  Cherry-Ann Smart, The University of the West Indies – Mona, Jamaica

Chapter 9
Strategies on Addressing Contract Cheating: A Case Study from an Australian Regional
University........................................................................................................................................ 206
  Eric Kong, University of Southern Queensland, Australia
  Steven Ching-Nam Goh, University of Southern Queensland, Australia
  Benjamen Franklen Gussen, University of Southern Queensland, Australia
  Joanna Turner, University of Southern Queensland, Australia
  Lindy-Anne Abawi, University of Southern Queensland, Australia
Section 4
Plagiarism Problematized

Chapter 10
Combating Plagiarism: A Three-Pronged Approach to Reducing Prevalence in Higher Education.. 230
Bogdan Hoanca, University of Alaska Anchorage, USA

Chapter 11
Plagiarism vs. Pedagogy: Implications of Project-Based Learning Research for Teachers in the 21st Century ......................................................................................................................... 247
Paulo C. Dias, Catholic University of Portugal, Portugal
John R. Mergendoller, Buck Institute for Education, USA

Chapter 12
Students’ Perceptions of Cheating and Plagiarism: A Case Study ........................................ 267
Mihaela Badea, Petroleum-Gas University of Ploiesti, Romania
Diana Presada, Petroleum-Gas University of Ploiesti, Romania

Section 5
International Interests

Chapter 13
International Students and Academic Misconduct: Personal, Cultural, and Situational Variables .... 286
Susan Boafo-Arthur, University of Scranton, USA
Kathleen E. Brown, University of Scranton, USA

Chapter 14
Academic Integrity: Exploring Issues of Plagiarism Facing Chinese Students in New Zealand
Universities .......................................................................................................................... 306
Mingsheng Li, Massey University, New Zealand

Chapter 15
Academic Integrity and International Students: Culture, Challenges, and Learning Habits.......... 327
Nasser Razek, The University of Akron, USA

Chapter 16
A Clear Pathway: The Hazy Line between Collaboration and Collusion ............................... 343
Donna M. Velliaris, University of South Australia, Australia

Compilation of References .................................................................................................. 366

About the Contributors ....................................................................................................... 427

Index .................................................................................................................................. 436