Acknowledgment

We thank God Almighty for the speedy and successful completion of this book. He has been the source of our inspiration. We acknowledge, generally, that this book project is, without doubt, a product of collective and assiduous efforts of various individuals and organisations. They, at various phases, and in different capacities, ensured that our dream to collaborate and produce this book did not fizzle.

Specifically, we express our gratitude to the Managements of IGI-Global, North-West University, South Africa and Covenant University, Nigeria for creating the enabling platform for us to successfully execute this book project. We cannot quantify the contributions of our various reviewers: Prof. Juliet W. Macharia; Dr. Ebenezer Oluseun Ogungbe; Dr. Olugbenga Elegbe; Dr. SulemanuUsaini; Dr. Oyesomi Kehinde; and Dr. David Igbokwe. Your critical comments, cogent corrections and recommendations assisted us to select the best from numerous papers submitted to the editorial board. Also, we thank Mr Oyewole Oladapo and Mr Obasanjo Oyedele, both of the Department of Communication and Language Arts, University of Ibadan, Nigeria. Your rigorous language editing added to the quality of the chapters. We are forever indebted to executive members of the African Council for Communication Educators (ACCE) and South African Communication (SACOMM) for their significant contributions towards the success of this book. Finally, our sincere appreciation goes to all scholars in the field of Communication, who made significant contributions to this book. We acknowledge the time you spared, and the valued intellectual resources that you invested to produce your respective chapters.

Okorie Nelson
Covenant University, Nigeria

Babatunde Raphael Ojebuyi
University of Ibadan, Nigeria

Abiodun Salawu
North-West University, South Africa