Acknowledgment

The editor would like to acknowledge the help of all the people involved in this project, from authors and reviewers, to friends and colleagues who kindly provided their feedback on both the initial idea of the book, and sections of it, at various stages in the process.

First, the editor would like to thank the authors for their contributions. The time and effort they have invested in this book are greatly appreciated.

Second, the editor wishes to acknowledge the immense contribution of the reviewers, who offered precious feedback on individual chapters, and how they could be improved, in the context of the book as a whole. Most of the authors also served as reviewers; their patience and expertise are highly appreciated.

Third, the editor would like to thank everyone at IGI Global, who tirelessly assisted in the complex task of bringing this project to fruition.

Finally and above all, heartfelt thanks to the editor’s husband Luca, for all his support in ways that words could never account for; and to her whole family across three countries. Not only did they put up with her distraction, and piles of papers everywhere; they also provided valuable suggestions and challenges when these were most needed. Their love and support is a humbling gift, and a source of inspiration for this book.

Ana-Maria Pascal
Regent’s University London, UK