Acknowledgment

We are thankful to authors for contributing their chapters in the book and their commitment towards the successful publication of the book. Without them it would not have been possible to publish this book. Our utmost thanks go to our editorial team and reviewers, who provided their timely and valuable feedback to maintain the quality of the chapters. Some of the editorial team members played dual roles in contributing a chapter as well as reviewing the chapters. A very special thanks to you.

We are highly indebted to the IGI Global team for their technical and managerial support throughout all the stages of publishing this book. We are particularly grateful to Jan Travers- Director of Intellectual Property and Contracts’ Mary Imgrund - Editorial Intern, Acquisitions, Kayla Wolfe - Managing Editor, Acquisitions, who were extremely helpful in our book proposal submission to proposal acceptance and contract signing cycle. Our very special thanks and acknowledgement goes to Katherine Shearer the former Assistant Development Editor – IGI Books and Marianne Caesar the current Assistant Development Editor – IGI Books, who attended to our numerous queries promptly and amicably.

We would also like to thank our colleagues and the Head of Department of Library and Information Studies and the Dean of Faculty of Humanities, University of Botswana for their moral support.

Last but not least, we owe very special thanks to our families for their support and understanding as we had to spend a lot of time working on this project and sometimes without attending to our families. We thank the Almighty God, who gave us wisdom and strength to make this book a success.
