Preface ................................................................................................................................. vi

Chapter I. Evaluation of Web Sites on Information and Entertainment Properties: The Role of Involvement ................................................................. 1
Sanjeev Swami, Indian Institute of Technology, Kanpur, India
Ram Krishna, Tata Consultancy Services, India

Chapter II. An Examination of Consumer Behavior on eBay Motors ................................................................. 40
Mark P. Sena, Xavier University, USA
Gerald Braun, Xavier University, USA

Chapter III. Job Search at Naukri.com: Case Study of a Successful Dot-Com Venture in India ........................................................................... 58
Sanjeev Swami, Indian Institute of Technology, Kanpur, India

Chapter IV. User-Centered Design and Marketing: Online Customer Value ................................................................. 88
Thomas W. Porter, University of North Carolina Wilmington, USA

Chapter V. A Synthesis and Analysis of Behavioral and Policy Issues in Electronic Marketing Communications ................................. 106
Merrill Warkentin, Mississippi State University, USA
Robert S. Moore, Mississippi State University, USA
Melissa Moore, Mississippi State University, USA
Chapter VI. Providing Value to Customers in E-Commerce Environments: The Customer’s Perspective .................................................. 119
Shailey Minocha, The Open University, UK
Liisa H. Dawson, The Open University, UK
Ann Blandford, University College London Interaction Centre, UK
Nicola Millard, British Telecommunications PLC, UK

Chapter VII. Key Success Requirements for Online Brand Management .................................................................................................................. 147
Subir Bandyopadhyay, Indiana University Northwest, USA
Rosemary Serjak, University of Ottawa, Canada

Chapter VIII. The Evolution of the Theory and Practice of Marketing in Light of Information Technology ................................................................. 168
Daniela Andreini, University of Bergamo, Italy

Chapter IX. The Internet and Global Markets ........................................... 216
José Manuel Ortega Egea, University of Almería, Spain
Manuel Recio Menéndez, University of Almería, Spain

Chapter X. Stance Analysis: Social Cues and Attitudes in Online Interaction ................................................................................................................. 262
Peyton Mason, Linguistic Insights, Inc., USA
Boyd Davis, University of North Carolina-Charlotte, USA
Deborah Bosley, University of North Carolina-Charlotte, USA

Chapter XI. Application of Internet-Based Marketing Instruments by Multichannel Retailers: A Web Site Analysis in the U.S. and the UK ................................................................. 284
Maria Madlberger, Vienna University of Economics and Business Administration, Austria

Chapter XII. The E-Mode of Brand Positioning: The Need for an Online Positioning Interface ........................................................................................................ 304
S. Ramesh Kumar, Indian Institute of Management, Bangalore, India

Chapter XIII. Locked In By Services: Willingness to Pay More and Switching Behavior in a Digital Environment .................................................. 322
Manlio Del Giudice, University of Milano-Bicocca, Italy
Michel Polski, Grenoble Ecole de Management, France
Chapter XIV. Comparative Analysis of International Approaches to the Protection of Online Privacy ............................................................. 347

Peter O’Connor, ESSEC Business School, France

About the Authors ..................................................................................... 365

Index ............................................................................................................ 372