Table of Contents

Preface .................................................................................................................................................. xx

Chapter I
Emotional Digitalization as Technology of the Post-Modern:
A Reflexive Examination from the View of The Industry ................................................................. 1
Claus Hohmann, Autostadt, Germany

Chapter II
Bridging User Requirements and Cultural Objects:
A Process-Oriented Framework for Cultural E-Services ................................................................. 12
Elias A. Hadzilias, IÉSEG School of Management, France
Andrea Carugati, Aarhus School of Business, Denmark & IÉSEG School of Management, France

Chapter III
From Beliefs to Success:
Utilizing an Expanded TAM to Predict Web Page Development Success ................................. 37
Samantha Bax, Murdoch University, Australia
Tanya McGill, Murdoch University, Australia

Chapter IV
Assessing a Spanish Translation of the End-User Computing Satisfaction Instrument .................. 59
George E. Heilman, Winston-Salem State University, USA
Jorge Brusa, Texas A&M International University, USA

Chapter V
Understanding the Impact of Culture on Mobile Phone Usage on Public Places:
A Comparison between the UK and Sudan ........................................................................................... 70
Ishraga Khattah, Sudan Academy for Banking and Financial Science, Sudan
Steve Love, Brunel University, UK
Chapter VI
Discourses on User Participation – Findings
from Open Source Software Development Context .......................................................... 90
    Netta Iivari, University of Oulu, Finland

Chapter VII
Exploring “Events” as an Information Systems Research Methodology .............................. 108
    Anita Greenhill, The University of Manchester, UK
    Gordon Fletcher, University of Salford, UK

Chapter VIII
Different Levels of Information Systems Designers’
Forms of Thought and Potential for Human-Centered Design .......................................... 122
    Hannakaisa Isomäki, University of Lapland, Finland

Chapter IX
Tacit Knowledge in Rapidly Evolving Organisational Environments .................................. 139
    Barbara Jones, MBS University of Manchester, UK
    Angelo Failla, IBM Fondazione Milan (Director), Italy
    Bob Miller, MBS University of Manchester, UK

Chapter X
Interpretive Flexibility Along the Innovation Decision Process of the UK NHS Care Records Service (NCRS):
Insights from a Local Implementation Case Study .............................................................. 159
    Anastasia Papazafeiropoulou, Brunel University, UK
    Reshma Gandecha, Brunel University, UK

Chapter XI
Collaboration Challenges in Community Telecommunication Networks ............................ 172
    Sylvie Albert, Laurentian University, Canada
    Rolland LeBrasseur, Laurentian University, Canada

Chapter XII
A De-Construction of Wireless Device Usage ................................................................. 194
    Mary R. Lind, North Carolina A&T State University, USA

Chapter XIII
Modeling Sociotechnical Change in
IS with a Quantitative Longitudinal Approach: The PPR Method ..................................... 205
    François-Xavier de Vaujany, Jean Monnet Université, France
Chapter XIV
The U.S. Video Game Industry:
Analyzing Representation of Gender and Race ................................................................. 231
Janet C. Dunlop, Oklahoma State University, USA

Chapter XV
Global Information Ethics: The Importance of Being Environmentally Earnest ................. 247
Luciano Floridi, Università degli Studi di Bari, Italy and Oxford University, UK

Chapter XVI
Is Information Ethics Culture-Relative? .................................................................................. 259
Philip Brey, University of Twente, The Netherlands

Chapter XVII
Giving and Taking Offence in a Global Context ................................................................. 273
John Weckert, Centre for Applied Philosophy and Public Ethics, Charles Sturt University, Australia

Chapter XVIII
GSM-Based SMS Time Reservation System for Dental Care .............................................. 285
Reima Suomi, Turku School of Economics, Finland
Ari Serkkola, University of Technology, Finland
Markku Mikkonen, Social and Health Affairs - City of Lahti, Finland

Chapter XIX
An Ethnographic Study of IS Investment Appraisal .............................................................. 300
Debra Howcroft, University of Manchester, UK
Robert McDonald, University of Salford, UK

Chapter XX
Reframing Information System Design as Learning Across Communities of Practice............... 319
Kevin Gallagher, Northern Kentucky University, USA
Robert M. Mason, University of Washington, USA

Chapter XXI
Successes and Failures of SAP Implementation: A Learning Perspective ....................... 338
Tanya Bondarouk, University of Twente, The Netherlands
Maarten van Riemsdijk, University of Twente, The Netherlands

Chapter XXII
Anthropomorphic Feedback in User Interfaces:
The Effect of Personality Traits, Context and Grice’s Maxims on Effectiveness and Preferences ................................................................. 358
Pietro Murano, University of Salford, UK
Patrik O’Brian Holt, The Robert Gordon University, Scotland
Chapter XXIII
Several Simple Shared Stable Decision Premises for Technochange .................................................. 373
Richard Diamond, University of East Anglia, UK

Chapter XXIV
Trusting Computers Through Trusting Humans:
Software Verification in a Safety-Critical Information System .......................................................... 384
Alison Adam, University of Salford, UK
Paul Spedding, University of Salford, UK

Compilation of References .................................................................................................................. 399

About the Contributors ....................................................................................................................... 444

Index .................................................................................................................................................. 446