Acknowledgment

I would like to acknowledge Steve Probets and Ray Dawson, from Loughborough University, and Tim King from LSC Group, for their invaluable help, guidance and support during the course of this research and book writing. I would also like to thank LSC and Loughborough University department of Information Science for providing the sponsorship that enabled this work to be done.

Special thanks to all the interviewees who agreed to take part in the research and to those who continued to generously give of their time even after the interviews. A big thank you to Ann, Andy, Kevin and Jez from LSC, for the many interesting discussions we had that helped make this book richer. Special thanks to my Rolls-Royce colleagues for your support during the months it has taken to complete this book.

Special thanks to Kai Jakobs for proposing the idea to write this book, and to the publishing team at IGI Global, particularly Joel Gamon, who was a constant support throughout this process. I would also like to thank the reviewers for the insights they offered to enhance the content of the book.

On a personal level I would like to thank my husband Barry Thomas for his encouragement and unfailing support during this whole period, and my family in Uganda and America who have continually been a support.

Josephine Wapakabulo Thomas
March 2009