Table of Contents

Foreword ............................................................................................................................................ xvi

Preface .............................................................................................................................................. xviii

Acknowledgment ........................................................................................................................... xxiii

Chapter I
Digital Technologies and the Intensification of Economic and Organisational Mechanisms in Commercial Sport.............................................................................................................................. 1

John J.H. Forster, Griffith University, Australia

Section I
Training and Participation Applications

Chapter II
A General-Purpose Taxonomy of Computer-Augmented Sports Systems ........................................ 19

Sean Reilly, Trinity College, Ireland
Peter Barron, Trinity College, Ireland
Vinny Cahill, Trinity College, Ireland
Kieran Moran, Dublin City University, Ireland
Mads Haahr, Trinity College, Ireland

Chapter III
Dynamics and Simulation of General Human and Humanoid Motion in Sports ................................. 36

Veljko Potkonjak, University of Belgrade, Serbia
Miomir Vučobratović, Institute “M. Pupin,” Belgrade, Serbia
Kalman Babković, University of Novi Sad, Serbia
Branislav Borovac, University of Novi Sad, Serbia

Chapter IV
Technologies for Monitoring Human Player Activity Within a Competition ....................................... 63

Brendan Burkett, University of the Sunshine Coast, Australia
Chapter V
Video-Based Motion Capture for Measuring Human Movement ................................................... 81
Chee Kwang Quah, Republic Polytechnic, Singapore
Michael Koh, Republic Polytechnic, Singapore
Alex Ong, Republic Polytechnic, Singapore
Hock Soon Seah, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore
Andre Gagalowicz, INRIA, Le Chesnay, France

Chapter VI
Technology to Monitor and Enhance the Performance of a Tennis Player ........................................ 101
Amin Ahmadi, Griffith University, Australia & Queensland Academy of Sport
(Centre of Excellence), Australia
David D. Rowlands, Griffith University, Australia
Daniel A. James, Griffith University, Australia & Queensland Academy of Sport
(Centre of Excellence), Australia

Chapter VII
Quantitative Assessment of Physical Activity Using Inertial Sensors ............................................. 122
Daniel A. James, Griffith University, Australia & Queensland Academy of Sport
(Centre of Excellence), Australia
Andrew Busch, Griffith University, Australia
Yuji Ohgi, Keio University, Japan

Chapter VIII
Computer Supported Collaborative Sports: An Emerging Paradigm ............................................. 136
Volker Wulf, University of Siegen, Germany
Florian ‘Floyd’ Mueller, The University of Melbourne, Australia
Eckehard F. Moritz, SPORTKREATIVWERKSTATT, Germany
Gunnar Stevens, Fraunhofer FIT, Germany
Martin R. Gibbs, The University of Melbourne, Australia

Chapter IX
Digital Sport: Merging Gaming with Sports to Enhance Physical Activities Such as Jogging .......... 150
Florian ‘Floyd’ Mueller, The University of Melbourne, Australia

Chapter X
Double Play: How Video Games Mediate Physical Performance for Elite Athletes ....................... 167
Lauren Silberman, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, USA

Chapter XI
A League of Our Own: Empowerment of Sport Consumers Through Fantasy Sports Participation ......................................................................................................................... 178
Donald P. Roy, Middle Tennessee State University, USA
Benjamin D. Goss, Missouri State University, USA
Chapter XII
Computational and Robotic Pool

Jean-Pierre Dussault, University of Sherbrooke, Canada
Michael Greenspan, Queen’s University, Canada
Jean-François Landry, University of Sherbrooke, Canada
Will Leckie, Nortel, Canada
Marc Godard, Queen’s University, Canada
Joseph Lam, Queen’s University, Canada

Section II
Business Applications

Chapter XIII
A Framework for the Adoption of the Internet in Local Sporting Bodies:
A Local Sporting Association Example

Scott Bingley, Victoria University, Australia
Stephen Burgess, Victoria University, Australia

Chapter XIV
Online Questionnaires and Interviews as a Successful Tool to Explore Foreign Sports Fandom

Anthony K. Kerr, University of Technology, Sydney (UTS), Australia

Chapter XV
Virtual Digital Olympic Museum

Gaoqi He, Zhejiang University, China & East China University of Science and Technology, China
Zhigeng Pan, Zhejiang University, China
Weimin Pan, Zhejiang University, China
Jianfeng Liu, Zhejiang University, China

Chapter XVI
The Market Structure and Characteristics of Electronic Games

Kerri-Ann L. Kuhn, Queensland University of Technology, Australia

Chapter XVII
Sport Video Game Sponsorships and In-Game Advertising

Beth A. Cianfrone, Georgia State University, USA
James J. Zhang, University of Florida, USA
Chapter XVIII
In-Game Advertising: Effectiveness and Consumer Attitudes ......................................................... 299
Mark Lee, RMIT University, Australia
Rajendra Mulye, RMIT University, Australia
Constantino Stavros, RMIT University, Australia

Chapter XIX
The Effect of Arousal on Adolescent’s Short-Term Memory of Brand Placements
in Sports Advergames ......................................................................................................................... 313
Monica D. Hernandez, The University of Texas-Pan American, USA
Sindy Chapa, Texas State University, USA

Chapter XX
Schemas of Disrepute: Digital Damage to the Code ........................................................................ 320
Ellen L. Bloxsome, Queensland University of Technology, Australia
Nigel K. Ll. Pope, Griffith University, Australia

Compilation of References ............................................................................................................... 336

About the Contributors .................................................................................................................. 377

Index............................................................................................................................................... 387