Advanced Topics in
Global Information Management
Volume 5

Table of Contents

Preface ......................................................................................................................... vii

Section I: Global Themes

Chapter I
IT Industry Development and the Knowledge Economy: A Four Country Study .......... 1
Phillip Ein-Dor, Tel Aviv University, Israel
Michael Myers, University of Auckland, New Zealand
K. S. Raman, National University of Singapore, Singapore

Chapter II
Levels of Culture and Individual Behavior: An Integrative Perspective ............... 30
Elena Karahanna, University of Georgia, USA
J. Roberto Evaristo, University of Illinois, USA
Mark Srite, University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee, USA

Chapter III
Cultural Differences, Information and Code Systems ............................................. 51
Brian J. Corbitt, Deakin University, Australia
Konrad J. Peszynski, Deakin University, Australia
Saranond Inthanond, Deakin University, Australia
Byron Hill, Deakin University, Australia
Theerasak Thanasankit, Varakit Textiles & Kasetsart University, Thailand
Chapter IV
Developing a Generic Framework for E-Government ................................................. 72
  Gerald Grant, Carleton University, Canada
  Derek Chau, Charleton University, Canada

Chapter V
Culture and Trust in the Adoption of Electronic Voting: A Look at the USA and South Africa .............................................................................................................. 102
  David Gefen, Drexel University, USA
  Gregory M. Rose, Washington State University, USA
  Merrill Warkentin, Mississippi State University, USA
  Paul A. Pavlou, University of California, USA

Chapter VI
Globalization and E-Commerce: A Cross-Cultural Investigation of User Attitudes .......................................................................................................................... 128
  John Sagi, Anne Arundel Community College, USA
  Elias Carayannis, The George Washington University, USA
  Subhasish Dasgupta, The George Washington University, USA
  Gary Thomas, Anne Arundel Community College, USA

Chapter VII
The Evolution of IT Governance Structures in Dynamic Environments .............. 149
  Pauline O. Chin, Florida Atlantic University, USA

Chapter VIII
Collaborative Software Requirements Engineering Exercises in a Distributed Virtual Team Environment ...................................................................................................................................... 178
  H. Keith Edwards, University of Hawaii at Hilo, USA
  Varadharajan Sridhar, Management Development Institute, India

Section II: Regional Themes

Chapter IX
Determinants of Online Purchasing Behaviour ..................................................... 199
  Bill Doolin, Auckland University of Technology, New Zealand
  Stuart Dillon, University of Waikato Management School, New Zealand
  James L. Corner, University of Waikato Management School, New Zealand

Chapter X
An Investigation of Revenue Streams on New Zealand Online Content Providers .. 226
  Prateek Vasisht, Air New Zealand, New Zealand
  Jairo A. Gutiérrez, University of Auckland, New Zealand
Chapter XI
Pursuing Radical Transformation in Information Age Government: Case Studies
Using the SPRINT Methodology ................................................................. 240
Peter Kawalek, University of Manchester, UK
David Wastall, University of Manchester, UK

Chapter XII
A Disconnect in Stakeholders’ Perceptions from Emerging Realities of Teledensity Growth in Africa’s Least Developed Countries ........................................ 263
Victor W. Mbarika, Louisiana State University, USA
Peter N. Meso, Georgia State University, USA
Philip F. Musa, The University of Alabama at Birmingham, USA

Chapter XIII
Evaluating the Factors Affecting DSS Usage by Senior Managers in Local Authorities in Egypt ................................................................. 283
Ibrahim Elbeltagi, Wolverhampton University Business School, UK
Neil McBride, De Montfort University, UK
Glenn Hardaker, Huddersfield University Business School, UK

Chapter XIV
Understanding Internet Banking Adoption and Use Behavior: A Hong Kong Perspective ................................................................. 308
Siu-cheung Chan, Lingnan University, China
Ming-te Lu, Lingnan University, China

Chapter XV
IS Change Agents in Practice in a US-Chinese Joint Venture ......................... 331
Dorothy G. Dologite, City University of New York, USA
Robert J. Mockler, St. John’s University, USA
Quinghua Bai, Tonji University, China
Peter F. Viszhanyo, City University of New York, USA

Chapter XVI
E-Government Implementation: Balancing Collaboration and Control in Stakeholder Management ................................................................. 353
Chee-Wee Tan, University of British Columbia, Canada
Eric T.K. Lim, National University of Singapore, Singapore
Shan-Ling Pan, National University of Singapore, Singapore

About the Authors ........................................................................................ 381
Index ............................................................................................................ 393