E-Business, Government and Small and Medium-Sized Enterprises: Opportunities and Challenges

Table of Contents

Preface .............................................................................................................................................. vi

Section I: Electronic Commerce Initiatives and Policy Implications in Different Countries in the World

Chapter I
The Government and eGovernance: A Policy Perspective on Small Businesses in New Zealand ............................................................................................................................... 1

Nabeel A. Al-Qirim, Auckland University of Technology, New Zealand
Brian J. Corbitt, Deakin University, Australia

Chapter II
Building Infrastructure for SME Adoption of E-Business: The Canadian Experience ................................................................................................................................. 19

Dawn N. Jutla, Saint Mary’s University, Canada

Chapter III
Helping SMEs to Engage in Electronic Commerce: The Dutch Way ............................................................................................................................. 45

Maria-Eugenia Iacob, Telematica Instituut, The Netherlands
Piet Boekhoud, Telematica Instituut, The Netherlands
Freek Ebeling, Telematica Instituut, The Netherlands
Chapter IV
E-Commerce as a Business Enabler for Small and Medium Size Enterprises: Issues and Perspectives from Singapore .......................... 64

Leo Tan Wee Him, Singapore National Academy of Science, Singapore and National Institute of Education, Singapore
R. Subramaniam, Singapore National Academy of Science, Singapore and National Institute of Education, Singapore

Chapter V
An SME Experience of E-Commerce: Some Considerations for Policy Formulation in Australia ................................................................. 92

Stephen B. Chau, University of Tasmania, Australia
Paul Turner, University of Tasmania, Australia

Chapter VI
Obstacles to SMEs for E-Adoption in the Asia Pacific Region........... 113

Sushil K. Sharma, Ball State University, USA
Nilmini Wickramasinghe, Cleveland State University, OH

Chapter VII
Formulating Policy on E-Commerce and Trade for SMEs in the Asia-Pacific Region: An APEC Study ..................................................... 136

John Breen, Victoria University, Australia
Suzanne Bergin-Seers, Victoria University, Australia
Stephen Burgess, Victoria University, Australia
Gordon Campbell, Victoria University, Australia
Muhammad Mahmood, Victoria University, Australia
Robert Sims, Victoria University, Australia

Chapter VIII
EU E-Commerce Policies: Enhancing the Competitiveness of SMEs Through Innovation ................................................................. 159

Anne Wiggins, The London School of Economics and Political Science, UK

Section II: Policy Implication for Networked SMEs in Supply Chain

Chapter IX
B2B E-Commerce Infrastructure Success Factors for Small Companies in Developing Economies ..................................................... 187

Murray E. Jennex, San Diego State University, USA
Don Amoroso, San Diego State University, USA
Olayele Adelakun, San Diego State University, USA
Chapter X
Comparison of Factors Pertaining to the Adoption and Non-Adoption of Electronic Commerce in Formally Networked and Non-Networked Regional SMEs: A Study of Swedish Small Businesses .......................... 209
Robert MacGregor, University of Wollongong, Australia
Lejla Vrazalic, University of Wollongong, Australia
Deborah Bunker, University of South Wales, Australia
Monika Magnusson, Karlstad University, Sweden
Sten Carlsson, Karlstad University, Sweden

Chapter XI
Yu Chung William Wang, Yuan-Pei University of Science and Technology, Taiwan
Michael S. H. Heng, University of South Australia, Australia

Section III: Policy Push and Monitoring

Chapter XII
Providing Information for Business: Government Strategy for the Online World .............................................................................................. 272
Tanya Castleman, Deakin University, Australia
Marina Cavill, Deakin University, Australia

Chapter XIII
Government Promotion of E-Commerce in SMEs: The Australian Government’s ITOL Program ................................................................. 290
G. Michael McGrath, Victory University, Australia
Elizabeth More, University of Canberra ACT, Australia

About the Authors ..................................................................................... 308

Index ............................................................................................................ 318