Acknowledgments

I would like to acknowledge the help of all involved in the collation and review process of the encyclopedia, without whose support the project could not have been satisfactorily completed.

I would like to thank all the staff at IGI, whose contributions throughout the whole process, from inception of the initial idea to final publication, have been invaluable. In particular, our thanks go to Kristin Roth, who kept the project on schedule by continuously monitoring the progress on every stage of the project, and to Mehdi Khosrow-Pour and Jan Travers, whose enthusiasm initially motivated me to accept their invitations to take on this project. I am also grateful to my employer Monash University for supporting this project.

A special thank goes to Mr. John Goh of Monash University, who assisted me in almost the entire process of the encyclopedia: from collecting and indexing the proposals, distributing chapters for reviews and re-reviews, constantly reminding reviewers and authors, liaising with the publisher, to many other housekeeping duties, which are endless.

I would also like to acknowledge the assistance and advice from the editorial board members. In closing, I wish to thank all of the authors for their insights and excellent contributions to this encyclopedia, in addition to all those who assisted us in the review process.

David Taniar
Melbourne, Australia
January 2007