Table of Contents

Foreword ............................................................................................................................................ xiv

Preface ............................................................................................................................................. xvii

Acknowledgment ............................................................................................................................ xxiv

Section 1
Genre, Classification, and Definitions

Chapter 1
Narrative Definitions for Game Design: A Concept-Oriented Study of Nine Computer Game Design Guidebooks
Sanna-Mari Åyrämö, University of Jyväskylä, Finland
Raine Koskimaa, University of Jyväskylä, Finland

Chapter 2
Rethinking Genre in Computer Games: How Narrative Psychology Connects Game and Story
Jasmina Kallay, University College Dublin, Ireland

Chapter 3
Toward a Rhetoric of Serious Game Genres
Lee Sherlock, Michigan State University, USA

Section 2
Theoretical Perspectives

Chapter 4
Serious Games for Transformative Learning: A Communication Perspective on the Radical Binarisation of Everyday Life
Thomas J. Yannuzzi, Penn State University, USA
Bryan G. Behrenshausen, Millersville University, USA
Chapter 5
Examining Motivational Factors in Serious Educational Games .......................................................... 103

Renae Low, University of New South Wales, Australia

Chapter 6
Sacred Geographies: Myth and Ritual in Serious Games................................................................. 125

Larry Friedlander, Stanford University, USA

Section 3
Research

Chapter 7
Methodological Considerations in Educational Research Using Serious Games.......................... 147

Putai Jin, University of New South Wales, Australia

Chapter 8
Evaluating Video Game Design and Interactivity............................................................................. 177

Matthew J. Sharritt, Situated Research, LLC, USA

Chapter 9
Persuasive Play: Extending the Elaboration Likelihood Model to a Game-Based Learning Context .............................................. 206

Steven Malliet, University of Antwerp, Belgium
Hans Martens, University of Antwerp, Belgium

Section 4
Theory Into Practice

Chapter 10
Aligning Problem Solving and Gameplay: A Model for Future Research and Design .................. 227

Woei Hung, University of North Dakota, USA
Richard Van Eck, University of North Dakota, USA

Chapter 11
Serious Games for the Classroom: A Case Study of Designing and Developing a Massive Multiplayer Online Game .................................................................................. 264

Scott Wilson, University of Oklahoma, USA
Leslie Williams, University of Oklahoma, USA

Chapter 12
Citizen Science: Designing a Game for the 21st Century................................................................. 289

Matt Gaydos, University of Wisconsin – Madison, USA
Kurt Squire, University of Wisconsin – Madison, USA
Section 5
Future Directions

Chapter 13
Egaming and Girls: Optimizing Use in School Libraries ................................................................. 306
  Lesley S. J. Farmer, California State University Long Beach, USA
  Nora G. Murphy, Los Angeles Academy Middle School, USA

Chapter 14
Interactivity, Process, and Algorithm .................................................................................................. 333
  Chris Crawford, Storytron, USA

Top Interdisciplinary Game Texts ........................................................................................................ 347

Compilation of References .................................................................................................................. 358

About the Contributors ......................................................................................................................... 394

Index .................................................................................................................................................. 399