Acknowledgment

This book titled “E-Strategies for Technological Diffusion and Adoption: National ICT Approaches for Socioeconomic Development” is the compilation of different invaluable efforts of so many parties including but not limited to the authors, the reviewers, the editor and the publisher. The importance of the book stems from the importance and timeliness of the issues addressed which are of high priority to many nations both developed and developing in their quest to continuous improvement, development and growth while deploying state-of-the art e-Strategies. I would like to seize this opportunity and acknowledge the help of all those who were involved in the different stages of the production of this book, without whose support and assistance this important product could not have been satisfactorily completed with such high quality.

The different stages and preparation elements a book of such magnitude goes through require a tremendous and continuous cooperation and assistance by everyone involved for a long duration of time that extends over a long period, in this project it was almost three years. Therefore, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to all the contributors of this book who, with a collaborative team spirit, provided through their submitted chapters a comprehensive overview of national ICT e-Strategies, cases and applications from different parts of the world coupled with an in-depth analysis of the important elements for the implementation and institutionalization of ICT strategies. The importance of the book relates to the fact that it addresses the research interest of researchers, academic scholars as well as industry professionals engaging in ICT strategy development and deployment.

I would like to acknowledge the authors of the different chapters for sharing their invaluable experiences and accumulated knowledge. Moreover, I would like to acknowledge those selected authors who in addition to contributing to chapters to the book have contributed as reviewers of manuscripts and played an important role in a rigorous double-blind review process. Thanks go to all those who provided constructive and comprehensive reviews and invaluable inputs throughout the different stages of the review process. This includes my assistants at the American University in Cairo, Lina Nada, Radwa Morsy and Maha Ismail who provided administrative support throughout the different phases of the project. This project would not have been completed without the continuous timely and efficient support of the IGI Global team including Julia Mosemann, Rebecca Beistline, Heather Probst, Megan Childs, Kristin Roth and Jan Travers under the leadership of Mehdi Khosrow-Pour. In closing, I would like to thank my family Paquinam, Nehad and Hussein for their love, support, and encouragement throughout the different stages of producing this book.

Sherif Kamel, PhD
Cairo, Egypt
March 2010