Table of Contents

Foreword ........................................................................................................................................... xv
Preface ............................................................................................................................................... xvii
Acknowledgment .......................................................................................................................... xix

Section 1
Online Environment

Chapter 1
Online Learning Engages Students of the Digital Age ................................................................. 1
   Jill A. Ashbaugh Earman, Duquesne University, USA

Chapter 2
The Nuts and Bolts of Online Course Planning ............................................................................ 14
   Ronald Lombard, Chatham University, USA

Chapter 3
Implementing an Online Educational Technology Course in a Teacher Preparation Program:
Challenges and Solutions ................................................................................................................ 30
   Heejung An, William Paterson University, USA
   Hilary Wilder, William Paterson University, USA

Chapter 4
Gender Differences in Online Communication of Teacher Preparation Students ....................... 45
   William J. Gibbs, Duquesne University, USA
   Ronan S. Bernas, Eastern Illinois University, USA
Section 2
Multimedia Learning Tools

Chapter 5
Video Analysis as a Reflective Tool: Providing Pre-Service Teachers a Gradual-Replay Lens on their Developing Practice ................................................................. 67
Pru Cuper, Keene State College, USA
Yi Gong, Keene State College, USA

Chapter 6
A Multimedia Learning Tool that Allows High School Teachers and their Students to Engage in Scientific Research ................................................................. 83
Jacqueline S. McLaughlin, Pennsylvania State University - Lehigh Valley, USA

Section 3
Inter-Institutional Collaboration

Chapter 7
Serving Rural Teachers Using Synchronous Online Professional Development .................. 111
Shari L. Stockero, Michigan Technological University, USA

Chapter 8
Synergy: Service Learning in Undergraduate Instructional Technology Courses .................. 125
Jacqueline M. Mumford, Walsh University, USA
Elizabeth Juelich-Velotta, Walsh University, USA

Chapter 9
Finding Our Way While Leading the Way ........................................................................... 144
Gloria Latham, RMIT University Melbourne, Australia
Julie Faulkner, RMIT University Melbourne, Australia

Section 4
Assessment and Accreditation

Chapter 10
Creating Electronic Evidence Rooms for NCATE Accreditation: Using College LiveText Solutions ................................................................. 155
Natalie Johnson-Leslie, Arkansas State University, USA
Chapter 11
The Online Exhibit Room: Complement to NCATE Accreditation

Lesia Lennex, Morehead State University, USA
Brianna Swetnam, Morehead State University, USA
Heather Flynn, Morehead State University, USA

Chapter 12
Electronic Portfolios in Teacher Education: Practical Reflections and Insights from a Systemic Implementation

Howard Coleman, UNC Wilmington, USA
Jeremy Dickerson, East Carolina University, USA
Dennis Kubasko, UNC Wilmington, USA

Section 5
Web 2.0

Chapter 13
Web 2.0 in the Classroom

Ron Lombard, Chatham University, USA
Stella C. Porto, University of Maryland, USA

Chapter 14
One Plus One Doesn’t Always Equal Two

Terry L. Herman, Bowling Green State University, USA

Section 6
Trends in Technology Education

Chapter 15
New Directions in the Research of Technology-Enhanced Education

Robert N. Ronau, University of Louisville, USA
Christopher R. Rakes, University of Louisville, USA
Margaret L. Niess, Oregon State University, USA
Lauren Wagener, University of Tennessee, USA
David Pugalee, University of North Carolina, USA
Christine Browning, Western Michigan University, USA
Shannon O. Driskell, University of Dayton, USA
Susann M. Mathews, Wright State University, USA