Preface.......................................................................................................................................... vi

Elsebeth Korsgaard Sorensen, Aalborg University, Denmark
Daithi Ó Murchú, Gaelscoil Ó Doghair & Innovative e-Learning /e-Tutoring, Hibernia College, Ireland

Chapter I
Online Communities and Professional Teacher Learning: Affordances and Challenges ................................................................. 1

Norbert Pachler, Institute of Education, University of London, UK
Caroline Daly, Institute of Education, University of London, UK

Chapter II
Enhancing Phronesis: Bridging Communities Through Technology ................................................................................................ 29

Anders D. Olofsson, Umeå University, Sweden
J. Ola Lindberg, Mid Sweden University, Sweden

Chapter III
Enhancing the Design of a Successful Networked Course
Collaboration: An Outsider Perspective ........................................................................ 56

Rema Nilakanta, Iowa State University, USA
Laura Zurita, Aalborg University, Denmark
Olatz López Fernández, University of Barcelona, Spain
Elsebeth Korsgaard Sorensen, Aalborg University, Denmark
Eugene S. Takle, Iowa State University, USA
Chapter IV
Enhanced Learning and Leading in a Technology Rich, 21st Century Global Learning Environment ................................................................. 75
Ian W. Gibson, Macquarie University, Sydney, Australia

Chapter V
Enhancing Learning Through 3-D Virtual Environments ................. 103
Erik Champion, School of ITEE, University of Queensland, Australia

Chapter VI
Inquisitivism: The Evolution of a Constructivist Approach for Web-Based Instruction ................................................................. 125
Dwayne Harapnuik, University of Alberta, Canada

Chapter VII
Situated Learning and Interacting With/Through Technologies: Enhancing Research and Design ........................................................ 155
Pirkko Raudaskoski, Aalborg University, Denmark

Chapter VIII
Rethinking E-Learning: Shifting the Focus to Learning Activities ................................................................. 184
Jørgen Bang, Aarhus University, Denmark
Christian Dalsgaard, Aarhus University, Denmark

Chapter IX
Computer-Supported Collaborative Learning and the Central Research Questions: Two Illustrative Vignettes ................... 203
Tony Carr, University of Cape Town, South Africa
Vic Lally, The Mental Health Foundation, UK & University of Sheffield, UK
Maarten de Laat, University of Southampton, UK
Glenda Cox, University of Cape Town, South Africa

Chapter X
Identifying an Appropriate, Pedagogical, Networked Architecture for Online Learning Communities ................................................................. 227
Elsebeth Korsgaard Sorensen, Aalborg University, Denmark
Daithi Ó Murchú, Gaelscoil Ó Doghair & Innovative e-Learning /e-Tutoring, Hibernia College, Ireland
Chapter XI
Ms. Chips and Her Battle Against the Cyborgs: Embedding ICT in Professional Praxis.......................................................... 253
   J. P. Cuthell, Virtual Learning & MirandaNet Academy, UK

Chapter XII
Making Sense of Technologically Enhanced Learning in Context:
A Research Agenda............................................................................. 269
   Simon B. Heilesen, Roskilde University, Denmark
   Sisse Siggaard Jensen, Roskilde University, Denmark

Chapter XIII
Brain-Based Learning ....................................................................... 292
   Kathleen Cercone, Housatonic Community College, USA

About the Authors............................................................................. 323

Index .................................................................................................. 330