Table of Contents

Preface ........................................................................................................................................... xii

Acknowledgment .......................................................................................................................... xvi

Section 1
Background

Chapter 1
Computer Hacking and the Techniques of Neutralization: An Empirical Assessment.................. 1
   Robert G. Morris, University of Texas at Dallas, USA

Chapter 2
Between Hackers and White-Collar Offenders............................................................................. 18
   Orly Turgeman-Goldschmidt, Bar-Ilan University, Israel

Chapter 3
The General Theory of Crime and Computer Hacking: Low Self-Control Hackers?.................. 38
   Adam M. Bossler, Georgia Southern University, USA
   George W. Burrus, University of Missouri-St. Louis, USA

Chapter 4
Micro-Frauds: Virtual Robberies, Stings and Scams in the Information Age ............................... 68
   David S. Wall, University of Durham, UK

Section 2
Frameworks and Models

Chapter 5
Policing of Movie and Music Piracy: The Utility of a Nodal Governance Security Framework....... 87
   Johnny Nhan, Texas Christian University, USA
   Alessandra Garbagnati, University of California Hastings College of Law, USA
Section 3
Empirical Assessments

Chapter 6
Deciphering the Hacker Underground: First Quantitative Insights .................................................... 105
   Michael Bachmann, Texas Christian University, USA

Chapter 7
Examining the Language of Carders ................................................................................................... 127
   Thomas J. Holt, Michigan State University, USA

Chapter 8
Female and Male Hacker Conference Attendees: Their Autism-Spectrum Quotient (AQ) Scores and Self-Reported Adulthood Experiences ......................................................... 144
   Bernadette H. Schell, Laurentian University, Canada
   June Melnychuk, University of Ontario Institute of Technology, Canada

Section 4
Macro-System Issues Regarding Corporate and Government Hacking and Network Intrusions

Chapter 9
Cyber Conflict as an Emergent Social Phenomenon ........................................................................ 170
   Dorothy E. Denning, Naval Postgraduate School, USA

Chapter 10
Control Systems Security .................................................................................................................... 187
   Jake Brodsky, Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission, USA
   Robert Radvanovsky, Infracritical Inc., USA

Section 5
Policies, Techniques, and Laws for Protection

Chapter 11
Social Dynamics and the Future of Technology-Driven Crime .......................................................... 205
   Max Kilger, Honeynet Project, USA
Chapter 12
The 2009 Rotman-TELUS Joint Study on IT Security Best Practices:
Compared to the United States, How Well is the Canadian Industry Doing?................................. 228
  Walid Hejazi, University of Toronto, Rotman School of Business, Canada
  Alan Lefort, TELUS Security Labs, Canada
  Rafael Etges, TELUS Security Labs, Canada
  Ben Sapiro, TELUS Security Labs, Canada

Compilation of References........................................................................................................ 266

About the Contributors.............................................................................................................. 290

Index........................................................................................................................................ 294