Table of Contents

Preface ................................................................................................................................................... xv

Section 1
Cultural Convergence and Globalization

Chapter 1
Super-Sized Fandom: Globalization, Popular Culture, and the Peculiar Case of “Miss McDonald” ................................................................................................................................. 1
Andrew J. Kirk, Southern Illinois University - Carbondale, USA

Chapter 2
Urban Screens and Transcultural Consumption between South Korea and Australia ...................... 15
Audrey Yue, University of Melbourne, Australia
Sun Jung, Victoria University, Australia

Chapter 3
Sharing Bites on Global Screens: The Emergence of Snack Culture ................................................. 37
Hudson Moura, Simon Fraser University, Canada

Chapter 4
Global Media and Information Ethics: Challenges Re-Examined ..................................................... 50
D. Ndirangu Wachanga, University of Wisconsin-Whitewater, USA

Chapter 5
Public Discourses on the Korean Wave in Taiwan ................................................................................. 63
Li hyun Lin, National Taiwan University, Taiwan

Chapter 6
The Emerging Media Exchange in the Cultural Regionalization of Asia ............................................. 80
Peichi Chung, National University of Singapore, Singapore
Chapter 7
New Imagined Community by Cultural Participation: A Study on Taiwan’s Digital Cultural Heritage

Pi-Chun Chang, National Taiwan Normal University, Taiwan

Section 2
Convergence of New Media

Chapter 8
New-Media-Based Attention Implosion and Television Publicness in the Era of Internet-TV Convergence

Francis L. F. Lee, Chinese University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong

Chapter 9
Bearing Witness through Technology: War and Visual Culture in a Converged World

Yasmin Ibrahim, Queen Mary, University of London, UK

Chapter 10
Mum’s the Word: A Case Study of Students’ Intergenerational New Media Literacy in Shanghai

Larissa Hjorth, RMIT University, Australia

Chapter 11
The Electronic Pontifices Maximi: Social Networking and the Hope of a Right to Communicate

Aliaa Dakrouy, University of Ottawa, Canada

Chapter 12
A Picture and a Thousand Words: Visual Scaffolding for Mobile Communications in Developing Regions

Robert Farrell, IBM T J Watson Research Center, USA
Catalina Danis, IBM T J Watson Research Center, USA
Thomas Erickson, IBM T J Watson Research Center, USA
Jason Ellis, IBM T J Watson Research Center, USA
Jim Christensen, IBM T J Watson Research Center, USA
Mark Bailey, IBM T J Watson Research Center, USA
Wendy A. Kellogg, IBM T J Watson Research Center, USA

Section 3
Mobile Technology and Culture

Chapter 13
Going Online in the PC Graveyard: The Sociocultural Evolution of Japan’s Mobile Internet

Inkyu Kang, Penn State University, USA
Chapter 14
Exploring the Diffusion of Mobile Phone among Zimbabwean Migrants in Botswana .......................... 200

Do Kyun Kim, University of Louisiana at Lafayette, USA

Chapter 15
The Triumph of Shanzhai: No Name Brand Mobile Phones and Youth Identity in China.................. 213

Mei Wu, University of Macau, China
Hongye Li, University of Macau, China

Chapter 16
Convergence of Mobile TV in Everyday Life and Culture................................................................. 233

Seung-Hyun Lee, University of North Carolina at Greensboro, USA

Chapter 17
Call Centers, India, and a New Politics: Cultural Interpretations.................................................. 251

Maheswar Satpathy, Indian Institute of Technology Kanpur, India

Section 4
Games

Chapter 18
Mobile Games in China: Formation, Ferment, and Future............................................................... 276

Zixue Tai, University of Kentucky, USA
Haifang Zeng, Shanghai University, China

Chapter 19
Cinema of the Gun: Science and Technology Studies and the First Person Shooter ..................... 296

Sam Hinton, University of Canberra, Australia

Chapter 20
Playing as Producing: Convergence Culture and Localization of EA Digital Games in Taiwan............. 311

Ying-Chia H. Lin, Fu-Jen Catholic University, Taiwan

Section 5
Corporate Convergence and Media Market

Chapter 21
TV Box on the Internet: The Interplay between Politics and Market in China ............................... 327

Anthony Fung, The Chinese University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong
Luzhou Li, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, USA
Chapter 22
Corporate Strategies in Media Convergence: A Comparative Study of Sony vs. Samsung as Transnational Cultural Industries ................................................................. 340
    Dal Yong Jin, Korea Advanced Institute of Science and Technology, South Korea

Chapter 23
Fostering Innovation in Converging Audiovisual Media Services: Do Mergers and Acquisitions Really Help? ................................................................. 354
    Sergio Sparviero, Dublin City University, Ireland

Chapter 24
The Three Cs of Key Music Sector Trends Today: Commodification, Concentration and Convergence ................................................................. 373
    Paschal Preston, Dublin City University, Ireland
    Jim Rogers, Dublin City University, Ireland

Compilation of References ................................................................. 397

About the Contributors .................................................................................. 442

Index ................................................................................................................. 450