Table of Contents

Foreword ........................................................................................................................................... xvii

Preface ................................................................................................................................................ xix

Section 1
The Role of Marketing and Communications in Online and Distance Education

Chapter 1
Integrated Marketing Communications and Their Application to the Open Education Field ........... 1
  Juliet Stoltenkamp, University of the Western Cape, South Africa
  Jephias Mapuva, University of the Western Cape, South Africa

Chapter 2
From Consumer to Prodsumer: Contemplation on Product, Producer and Consumer in Tertiary Education................................................................. 18
  Goknil Nur Koçak, Mersin University, Turkey

Chapter 3
Educational Marketing: Coming Down from the Cloud Using Landing Gear.............................. 26
  Ruth Gannon Cook, DePaul University, USA

Chapter 4
Marketing Online Education............................................................................................................. 32
  Ormond Simpson, University of London, UK

Chapter 5
Marketing and Promoting Online Adult Education ....................................................................... 41
  Victor C. X. Wang, California State University, USA

Chapter 6
Brand Management Process for the Online Education Programmes.......................................... 56
  Ebru Gokaliler, Yaşar University, Turkey
  Ayda Sabuncuoğlu Aybar, Yaşar University, Turkey
Chapter 7
Ad Avoidance and Distance Education Marketing: How Ad Avoidance Can Affect Distance Education Advertising ............................................................... 75
  N. Bilge Ispir, Anadolu University, Turkey

Chapter 8
Marketing Distance Education Programs: Building a Customer Orientation ................................................................. 89
  Osman Gok, Yasar University, Turkey
  Emir Ozeren, Dokuz Eylul University, Turkey

Section 2
Social Media and New Technologies

Chapter 9
Social Media Based Relationship Marketing ........................................................................................................... 119
  Najmuddin Shaik, University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign, USA
  Shannon Ritter, Penn State World Campus, USA

Chapter 10
  Gonca Telli Yamamoto, Okan University, Turkey

Section 3
The Role of Pedagogy and Related Concepts in Marketing Online and Distance Education Programs

Chapter 11
Defining the Role of Online Education in Today’s World ................................................................................... 159
  Jephias Mapuva, University of the Western Cape, South Africa

Chapter 12
Important Issues in Online Education: E-Pedagogy and Marketing ................................................................. 184
  Murat Hismanoglu, Akdeniz University, Turkey

Chapter 13
Marketing of Virtual Healthcare Communities as Being Distance and Open Learning (DOL) Environments ........................................................................... 210
  Mehpure Tokay Argan, Bilecik University, Turkey
  Metin Argan, Anadolu University, Turkey
Chapter 14
Considerations for Marketing Distance Education Courses in Health Education:
Five Important Questions to Examine Before Development .............................................................. 222
    Michael Stellefson, Texas A&M University, USA

Section 4
Cross-Cultural Differences and Variations in Online and Distance Education Programs

Chapter 15
Marketing E-Learning and the Challenges Facing Distance Education in Africa ......................... 235
    Bamidele A. Ojo, Fairleigh Dickinson University, USA

Chapter 16
Applying the Corporate Identity in Mega Universities’ Web Sites ................................................ 248
    Mesude Canan Ozturk, Anadolu University, Turkey

Chapter 17
Strategic Framework for Sustainable Development of Open and Distance Learning Programs in India: Marketing Perspective .......................................................... 262
    Purnendu Tripath, Indira Gandhi National Open University, India
    Siran Mukerji, Indira Gandhi National Open University, India

Chapter 18
Cross-Cultural Comparison of Student Perceptions and Performance in a Multicultural, Interdisciplinary and Bilingual Online Educational Project ......................................... 279
    Manuel Cuadrado-Garcia, University of Valencia, Spain
    Maria-Eugenia Ruiz-Molina, University of Valencia, Spain

Section 5
Individualization, Finance, Leadership, Other Related Concepts in Online and Distance Education

Chapter 19
Standardization, Hybridization, or Individualization: Marketing IT to a Diverse Clientele .......... 291
    Evan G. Mense, Southeastern Louisiana University, USA
    John H. Fulwiler, Southeastern Louisiana University, USA
    Michael D. Richardson, Southeastern Louisiana University, USA
    Kenneth E. Lane, Southeastern Louisiana University, USA
Chapter 20
Older Adults as New Learners: A Framework for Marketing Online Education to the Other Adult Learner ................................................................. 300

David S. Stein, The Ohio State University, USA
Constance E. Wanstreet, The Ohio State University, USA
Michelle L. Lutz, The Ohio State University, USA
Tiffany Dixon, The Ohio State University, USA

Chapter 21
Financing Distance Education in a Time of Economic Challenge ......................................................... 315

Elizabeth Moore Rhodes, Southeastern Louisiana University, USA
Willie Ennis III, Southeastern Louisiana University, USA
Mindy Crain-Dorough, Southeastern Louisiana University, USA
Michael D. Richardson, Southeastern Louisiana University, USA
Tak C. Chan, Kennesaw State University, USA

Chapter 22
Leadership and Distance Learning: Implications for the Administration of Higher Education
Extended Campus Locations .................................................................................................................. 328

Don S. Stumpf, Armstrong Atlantic State University, USA

Chapter 23
Promoting Online Education for New Working Environments in Companies ..................................... 337

Ileana Hamburg, IAT, FH Gelsenkirchen, Germany
Judith Terstriep, IAT, FH Gelsenkirchen, Germany
Steffi Engert, University Duisburg-Essen, Germany

Chapter 24
The Marketing Strategies and Applications of English Language Teaching (ELT) Programs via Distance Education .................................................. 359

Salih Usun, Mugla University, Turkey
Sevki Komur, Mugla University, Turkey

Afterword ...................................................................................................................................... 380

Compilation of References .............................................................................................................. 385

About the Contributors .................................................................................................................. 423

Index .............................................................................................................................................. 434