Acknowledgment

It is almost a cliché to say that the writing of a book is not a one man’s job. Nevertheless, that is absolutely true, and I would therefore like to thank several important persons to me for their involvements and contributions to making this book happen.

First of all, I would like to thank my lovely wife Charlotte for all your love, support, creative discussions, patience and encouragements during the time that it took to write this book. As you already know for sure, I couldn’t have done this without you! ;-)

Following from this, and as the author of this book, I would like to acknowledge the help of all involved in the collation and review process of the book, without whose support the project could not have been satisfactory completed. A special note of thanks goes also to all the staff at IGI Global, whose contributions throughout the whole process from inception to the initial idea to final publication have been invaluable. A special thanks goes to the publishing team at IGI Global, in particular to Julia Mosemann for her genuine interest in this book, and for keeping the project on schedule.

A special sponsorship acknowledgement goes to the research project that has funded this work (i.e. the “xID 2.0 – Interaction Design in Extreme Environments” project funded by the EU Target 2 structural funds).

I would also like to direct a special thanks to all of my colleagues at the department of Informatics at Umeå University, and to all of my colleagues at Umeå Institute of Design, Umeå university, Sweden for all your support, feedback and creative discussions that we have had throughout this project! A special thanks also goes to Peter Kjaer, rector at Umeå School of Architecture, Umeå university for our interesting and thoughtful discussions around architecture as social intervention processes. Another special thanks goes to Erica Robles, NYU for our always-inspiring research collaborations on e.g. the aesthetics of computational materiality. Our collaboration over the last two years has also left special imprints on the ideas outlined in this book. Thank you. I would also like to thank my new colleagues at the department of Informatics & Media at Uppsala University for good comments related to the notion of texture as introduced in this book.
In closing, I would also like to thank my great parents Britt and Ulf, and my sister Marie for always being there for me. And at last, but definitely not at least I would like to thank our two fantastic kids Viktor and Wilma for always being a huge source of inspiration, and for always asking and pinpointing the things that no one else would think about. You’re just so great!

Mikael Wiberg, PhD
Professor, Department of Informatics & Media, Uppsala University, Sweden
Research Director, Umeå Institute of Design, Umeå University, Sweden

September, 2010