Globalized E-Learning Cultural Challenges

Table of Contents

Foreword ........................................................................................................................................ vi

Gert Jan Hofstede

Preface .......................................................................................................................................... ix

Andrea Edmundson, eWorld Learning, USA

SECTION I:
The Big Picture: Culture and E-Learning from Global Perspectives

Chapter I
The Meaning of Culture in Online Education: Implications for Teaching, Learning, and Design ................................................................................................................................. 1

Chun-Min Wang, University of Georgia, USA

Thomas C. Reeves, University of Georgia, USA

Chapter II
Challenges to Implementing E-Learning in Lesser-Developed Countries ................ 18

Bolanle Olaniran, Texas Tech University, USA

Chapter III
Designing Quality Online Education to Promote Cross-Cultural Understanding .... 35

Youmei Liu, University of Houston, USA

Chapter IV
African Education Perspectives on Culture and E-Learning Convergence ............ 60

Wanjira Kinuthia, Georgia State University, USA

Chapter V
Intercultural Dimensions in the Information Society: Reflections on Designing and Developing Culturally-Oriented Learning ................................................................. 74

Nektaria Palaiologou, University of Piraeus, Greece
SECTION II: Western Philosophies and Theoretical Foundations in E-Learning

Chapter VI
Theorizing and Realizing the Globalized Classroom ................................................. 90
Steve McCarty, Osaka Jogakuin College, Japan

Chapter VII
Do the Philosophical Foundations of Online Learning Disadvantage Non-Western Students? .............................................................. 116
David Catterick, University of Dundee, Scotland

Chapter VIII
Theorizing a Multiple Cultures Instructional Design Model for E-Learning and E-Teaching ................................................................. 130
Lyn Henderson, James Cook University, Australia

SECTION III: Language and Semiotics

Chapter IX
How to Globalize Online Course Content ................................................................. 155
Martin Schell, New York University, USA

Chapter X
E-Learning Localized: The Case of the OOPS Project ............................................. 168
Meng-Fen Grace Lin, University of Houston, USA
Mimi Miyoung Lee, University of Houston, USA

Chapter XI
What Can Cave Walls Teach Us? ............................................................................. 187
Ruth Gannon Cook, DePaul University, USA
Caroline M. Crawford, University of Houston - Clear Lake, USA

Chapter XII
Electronic Paralanguage: Interfacing with the International ................................ 209
Katherine Watson, Coast Community College District, USA

SECTION IV: Addressing Issues of Cross-Cultural Instructional Design

Chapter XIII
Catherine McLoughlin, Australian Catholic University, Australia
Chapter XIV
Universal Design for Culturally-Diverse Online Learning ............................... 239
Jane H. Eberle, Emporia State University, USA
Marcus D. Childress, Emporia State University, USA

Chapter XV
Beyond Localization: Effective Learning Strategies for Cross-Cultural E-Learning ................................................................. 255
Patrick Dunn, Networked Learning Design, Ltd., UK
Alessandra Marinetti, The Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis & Malaria, Switzerland

Chapter XVI
The Cultural Adaptation Process (CAP) Model: Designing E-Learning for Another Culture ......................................................... 267
Andrea Edmundson, eWorld Learning, USA

Chapter XVII
Communication Barriers and Conflicts in Cross-Cultural E-Learning ............... 291
Rita Zaltsman, International Center of Modern Education - Prague, Czech Republic

Chapter XVIII
Multi-Cultural E-Learning Teamwork: Social and Cultural Characteristics and Influence ................................................................. 307
Datta Kaur Khalsa, University of Maryland, USA

Chapter XIX
Modern Technology and Mass Education: A Case Study of a Global Virtual Learning System .......................................................... 327
Ahmed Ali, University of Wisconsin - LaCrosse, USA

SECTION V:
Conclusion

Chapter XX
The Treasure Trove ......................................................................................... 341
Andrea Edmundson, eWorld Learning, USA

About the Authors ......................................................................................... 343

Index ............................................................................................................... 349